At the same time Mr. Hearst relinquishes to Mr. Block the 6-day Gazette Times, which has been merged with the Post under the name of Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

ILL HEALTH PROMPTS SUICIDE OF LAD

Two months ago, when 18-year-old Albert Himmer threatened to commit suicide, his father, John Himmer, of Grand avenue, Neville Island, bought him an automobile, and the boy apparently was contented. Last night the youth disappeared without saying a word to anyone, and this morning his body was found hanging in a garage back of the Himmer residence.

Young Himmer, subject to long periods of illness, frequently was despondent. He was graduated from Duff's Iron City College last February, and since that time had been keeping the books for his father's transfer business.

The body was found, hanging by a rope from a rafter, by Chester Miller, a truck driver for Mr. Himmer, at 6 o'clock this morning. The boy leaves his parents and three brothers.

LEAPS OFF SPAN TO DEATH ON 50-CENT BET, BOYS SAY

To win a 50-cent bet, Richard Purcell, 36, of 940 McKinley Terrace, Avalon, leaped to his death Sunday in the Monongahela River from the Glenwood Bridge, three boy witnesses to the fatal plunge reiterated today.

The boys, Morris Driscoll, 15, of 105 Aschin avenue; Alva Boyd, 13, 426 Elizabeth street, and William Evans, 18, passing in their automobile, saw Purcell disrobing on the bridge. In an effort to frustrate a possible suicide, they stopped and accosted him.

"What are you doing?" Driscoll asked.

"I got a bet with a man in Glenwood," Purcell replied.

"What's the bet?"

"Fifty cents that I can't jump off this bridge."

Purcell climbed to the railing and plunged into the muddy waters.

Records at the county morgue were altered today to change from suicide to accidental drowning the cause of death assigned to Purcell.

PITTSBURGH CLASHES WITH M'KEESPORT OVER LINDY

Pittsburgh and McKeesport may fight over Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, trans-Atlantic air hero, who is due here tomorrow at 2 p. m. A clash between members of the reception committee cropped at up a meeting today at which final details of the reception, in which 500,000 are expected to participate, were being worked out.

Pittsburgh representatives appeared irritated over the idea that the Bettis Field ceremony might compete with Pittsburgh's.

Mayor Kline said: "It's Pittsburgh's party and we want it to stay Pittsburgh's."

D. Barr Peat, manager of Bettis Field and a member of the reception committee, was asked whether he thought the police protection would be adequate. He replied: "I doubt it."

This led a sharp exchange of remarks between representatives of the McKeesport district and of surrounding territories, in which Councilman Robert Garland said, "We don't want to subordinate Pittsburgh to McKeesport. County Commissioner Babcock declared, "Why 5,000 automobiles would choke you to death." This followed a statement by Mr. Peat that parking space for 50,000 cars is available near Bettis Field.

OFFICIAL PARADE

The Mayor's committee will leave city hall for Bettis Field at 12 o'clock, will meet Lindbergh there and accompany him to Pitt Stadium. Three fire chiefs' cars, sounding sirens, will precede the official autos to inform spectators lined along the route that Lindy's machine is approaching. The route today was set as Bettis Field, to Lincoln Place, to Hays borough, to

Rails Soar To Record Advance

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press.) — Resumption of the upward price movement in today's stock market carried both the rail and industrial averages to record high levels, more than 50 individual issues eclipsing their previous peak prices of the year. The advance reached violent proportions in a few issues which are believed to harbor a large short interest, Timken Roller Bearing soaring nearly 17 points to 141 and Manhattan Electrical Supply nearly 10 points to 131.

Banks called about $15,000,000 in loans during the day, but there appeared to be plenty of funds available at the renewal rate of 4 per cent. The recent reduction in bankers' acceptances, following soon after

JUDGE GRAY STRESSES PREVENTION OF CRIME

The necessity of preventing crime among youthful offenders if progress is to be made in the fight against crime was stressed by Judge James H. Gray, speaking at the luncheon of the Co-Operative Club in the Fort P[illegible] Hotel.

"Public opinion must be aroused to a point where action by public authorities will be forced," he said, pointing out that willing obedience to [illegible] as necessary as strict enforcement.

PITTSBURGH TUBE CITY OFFICIALS CLASH

South Side, along Carson street to Smithfield street bridge, across bridge to Smithfield street, to Seventh avenue, to Bigelow boulevard, to O'Hara street, to De Soto street to Pitt Stadium.

At the stadium Lindy and the Mayor will drive around the bowl once, then leave their cars and march to the stand in the center. While Lindy mounts to the stand, white doves will be released to circle over head, and bands will play. Lindbergh will be the only speaker there. Radio amplifiers and broadcasters will carry his voice to every section of the stadium. When he leaves the stadium his route will be De Soto street, to Fifth avenue, to Bigelow boulevard, to Forbes street, to Boulevard of the Allies, to Grant street, to William Penn Hotel.

The stadium gates will open at 1 o'clock. There will be no reserved seats. Lindbergh is due to arrive there at 3:30.

The famous team of "We" will arrive at Bettis' Field, McKeesport, at 2 p. m. After a short, informal reception there, the "Flying Colonel" will be conducted to Pitt Stadium, where officialdom of Pittsburgh will welcome him.

Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, who will personally command the 400 city traffic policemen on duty at Bettis Field, has issued instructions not to allow more automobiles in the vicinity of the field than can be parked without clogging traffic.

After landing, Col. Lindbergh will be driven from the field through West Homestead, Carson street, over the Smithfield Street Bridge to Smithfield street, to Grant street and Bigelow boulevard to the stadium. He will be driven slowly around the stadium and will mount a platform and deliver his message on aviation. Then he will be taken by way of Forbes street and the Boulevard of the Allies, Grant street and Oliver avenue to the William Penn Hotel. There he will meet newspapermen and then rest until 7 p. m., when the official banquet begins.

EXCHANGE TO CLOSE

The Pittsburgh Stock Exchange yesterday joined the long list of organizations which will allow a half holiday in honor of the youth who flew from New York to Paris. The Harmony Route and the Butler Short Line have announced special excursion rates from outlying points for the day.

Mayor Charles H. Kline will preside at a meeting of his general reception committee in the Council chamber at 11 a. m. today. It will be the last official meeting until 1 p. m. tomorrow, when the committee meets at the City-County Building to start for the field.

In a proclamation several days ago Mayor Kline declared a half holiday for city employes. Practically all downtown office forces and many employes of outlying industrial concerns will be at the stadium or along the line of parade, the committee believes.

SUN-TELE MERGER

cerning the sale to Mr. Block of the Post and Sun, Arthur E. Braun and George C. Moore, trustees under the will of the late T. H. Given, majority owner of the stock in the Post Publishing Company, retiring publishers, asked for Mr. Block "a cordial reception in the Pittsburgh community." In a long career "in the newspaper field and advertising," the statement declared, "Mr. Block has proved himself a man of warm impulses, of high integrity and strong public spirit."

TO BE CLEAN NEWSPAPER.

Representatives of Mr. Hearst, in announcing the noted publisher's entry into the Pittsburgh field, dedicate themselves "to publish a good newspaper, entertaining and clean, and watchful for the protection of public interests." The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and the Sunday Sun-Telegraph, the statement declares, "will be edited by Pittsburghers, for Pittsburghers, under the direction of Mr. Hearst, with the greatest feature storehouse in the world at its disposal and the most famous writers and most popular artists ever assembled under one banner contributing to its columns."

In the presentation of news, the statement declares, "the Sun-Telegraph's policy will be fearless and aggressive. Above all, this newspaper will try sincerely to be worthy of this earnest, energetic Pittsburgh community."

Mr. Block, in confirming the announcement of his purchase of the Pittsburgh Post and the Pittsburgh Sun, declared that "it will be our ambition to have the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette a newspaper of which everyone may be proud. Its policies will be independent and the newspaper will be of such high character as to insure its welcome into every home."

POST-GAZETTE THREE CENTS.

While representatives of Mr. Hearst announced that the Sun-Telegraph will continue to sell for 2 cents and the Sunday Sun-Telegraph for 10 cents, the Post-Gazette was on sale this morning for 3 cents.

The Sun-Telegraph is published by the Pitt Publishing company, the officers being W. R. Hearst, president; H. M. Bitner, vice president and publisher; A. W. Clark, secretary-treasurer, and C. W. Danziger, managing editor.

Negotiations which ended in the merger of the four newspapers were conducted by George Schroeder, newspaper broker and head of the Schroeder Piano Company of Pittsburgh.

Through the entry of Mr. Hearst into the Pittsburgh newspaper field Pittsburghers will have at their disposal, in addition to the many special features, the newsgathering facilities of his other 25 newspapers in 16 cities—New York, Chicago, Boston, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Atlanta, Oakland, Washington, Baltimore, Milwaukee, Albany, San Antonio, Detroit, Rochester and Syracuse.

MR. OLIVER'S STATEMENT.

The significance to Pittsburghers in the merger is in the reduction of local newspapers from three afternoon newspapers, three Sunday newspapers and two morning newspapers to two afternoon, two Sunday and one morning newspapers.

In his statement announcing the retirement of his brother Augustus K. Oliver, and himself, from the newspaper publishing field in Pittsburgh, George S. Oliver said:

"The Newspaper Printing Company, owner and publisher of The Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph and The Gazette Times, has been purchased by William Randolph Hearst. With the facilities of a great string of newspapers extending from coast to coast; the Associated Press together with the news services with which he is affiliated, and the features and comics for which the Hearst Newspapers are famous, we feel that Mr. Hearst will provide, in The Chronicle Telegraph and The Gazette Times, not only the best newspapers in Pittsburgh but the equal of any in the country. We bespeak for Mr. Hearst the same confidence and support on the part of our many thousands of readers that they have accorded ofreaders that they have accorded to the owners and managers who have controlled these publications for the past quarter of the century.

THE NEWSPAPER PRINTING COMPANY,
George S. Oliver, President.

'Miss Pittsburgh' Quest In 3 Theaters Tonight

Finals are scheduled at three theaters tonight for the selection of contestants who will have the right to appear before the official judges of the 1927 "Miss Pittsburgh" committee when the local beauty queen and 23 seashore vacation-trip winners are named at the Willows, Oakmont, on Saturday, August 13. Fourteen theaters of the official 23 leadig motio picture houses participating in the quest have held their finals and named their representatives. Five finals are announced for tomorrow night.

Each contestant in this year's pretentious quest has had to register at an official theater. Each theater is conducting eliminations at which four girls are chosen who gain the privilege to represent the house in which they are registered. The sets of four girls each from the 23 theaters will result in a total of 92 contenders appearing before the committee's judges.

WHERE TO ENTER.

The theaters conducting their finals tonight are the Helma, Etna; Bellevue, at Bellevue, and the Hippodrome, North Side. Tomorrow night's finals are scheduled at the Ideal, West End; Dormont, in Dormont; Garden, North Side, and Frederick, East Pittsburgh.

Girls still desirous to compete and who have not yet entered the quest, can register at any of the latter theaters until noon tomorrow. At the Arcadia Theater, North Side, the finals are to be held on Friday night, with the closing hour for entries at noon that day.

The eliminations and finals scheduled at the Orpheum Theater for tonight and tomorrow night have been postponed. These events are now scheduled for Thursday and Friday nights. This change permits two additional days during which late entrants can register at this house.

Lucky contestants reaching the "Miss Pittsburgh" finals will have two awards for which to compete. Outstanding, of course, will be the coveted honor of being "Miss Pittsburgh 1927." The winner of this crown will be nationally recognized as the representative girl of Greater Pittsburgh. Provided with a wardrobe complete in dainty attire, the beauty queen, accompanied by her chaperone, will be an official guest at the Atlantic City national bathing beauty pageant.

This world-known week will open on September 6, during which time "Miss Pittsburgh" will make her headquarters in a suite at one of the luxurious seaside hotels. She will participate in all pageant events, including competing for the title of "Miss America" and that of being America's best dressed girl in evening gown.

AWAITING 23 GIRLS.

The title contenders who fail to capture the local honor will be given a second opportunity in the distribution of the 23 nine-day vacation trips to Atlantic City and Washington. After the selection of "Miss Pittsburgh" and her alternate, each set of four girls will compete for the individual theater title. The winner of this honor gains the vacation jaunt with all expenses paid and daily programs arranged.

These 23 beauties will make a daylight trip to Washington on a special car over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, arriving at the capitol late in the afternoon. Headquarters will be arranged at the Lee House and that night the girls will be guests of the Stanley Corporation at a theater party. The second day will be occupied by sightseeing about the national capital. Late that afternoon, the party again will board the special car and continue to the seashore.

Atlantic City headquarters will be made at the New Iroquois hotel, just a half-block from the boardwalk and beach. Seven carefree days will be spent there, every possible diversion to be arranged for their entertainment.

ARREST 5TH IN ARSON PLOT

avenue, were free on bond today pending a hearing at 2:30 o'clock before Alderman Maloney. Samuel Friedman, of Beechwood boulevard, alleged moving spirit in the plot, and Simon Rosenthal ,of Beacon street, were in jail.

TO TELL OF TRAP

Two North Side women whose action brought about the debacle of the ring were to tell before Alderman Maloney how the men were trapped. They are Miss Mabel Yocum, rooming house proprietor of 601 Pressley street, and Mrs. Carrie Deverts, milliner, of 435 East Ohio street.

The gang began its operations when Friedman, while getting a manicure from Mrs. Ellen Allison in a Lyceum Building shop, expressed a desire for feminine companionship. Mrs. Allison said she didn't go out herself, but she had a friend, Miss Yocum, who might.

Friedman called on Miss Yocum and, it is said, offered her a plan to burn her rooming house and collect the insurance.

"Not today," said Miss Yocum, "the idea is horrible. But come back again."

SENT TO FRIEND

Friedman did and a detective was concealed in a stairway to hear him relate his plan. He offered 10 per cent of the proceeds and Miss Yocum, playing for time, sent him to Mrs. Deverts, a friend.

Warned to feign interest by Miss Yocum, Mrs. Deverts led the man along until, after many visits, he brought Letwin with him. The latter was introduced as "Murderer" Letwin. He boasted of his skill in "burning women and kids in their beds."

All of the visits were made while detectives and deputy fire marshals were concealed around the millinery shop.

DEMANDS ADVANCE

When the day set for the burning, last Sunday, came, Letwin and Friedman arrived with a demand for an advance of $200 from Mrs. Deverts. She said she'd give them a check if they'd go into the kitchen. State Deputy Fire Marshal Raymond Stevenson and Frank Allen, investigator for the National Board of Fire Underwriters, were waiting there behind doors.

Friedman walked into the kitchen to take the check, and Letwin began to strew newspapers over the floor, ready to light. The latter pulled open a door, and Allen leaped out upon him.

"Get your man, Steve!" Allen yelled, and Stevenson rushed out with drawn pistol.

From license numbers on the car used by the prisoners and information the men divulged, the identity of their fellow conspirators was learned. The arrest of Frank and Rosenthal followed.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS OF MINERS SEIZED

All of the household belongings of a large number of striking coal miners employed by the Consumers Fuel Company at Harmarville have been attached for rent, in an effort to eject them from company houses.

Heretofore coal companies have notified their employes to give up possession, where announcement has been made of their intention to operate nonunion. Such action has invariably resulted in the United Mine Workers of America taking an appeal to the Superior Court, thus preventing the sheriff from ousting union men, pending action on the appeal.

The action of the Consumers company in attaching householding effects is an entirely new angle in the contest between the union and the coal companies to gain possession of company houses.

Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America and President P. T. Fagan, of District No. 5, rushed to Harmarville this morning to investigate the action of the Consumers Company in the interest of union miners. Mr. Murray and Mr. Fagan announced that the business men of the district are buying the miners' effects to protect the miners' interests. Sales are advertised for today, tomorrow and Thursday.

SEEK SINGLE BLISS

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—It's a long, long way from Mayfair House, New York, to a hacienda in the wildest section of Mexico. But Georgette Cohan, known in Mayfair House circles as Mrs. William H. Rowse, and in the rest of the world as the daughter of George M. Cohan, actor and playwright, has hit the trail. Object: A divorce. By this time Georgette has departed from Hollywood to lay her marital troubles before a Mexican tribunal. And she confidently expects to be freer than the air, matrimonially, in something less than a week. Both Mr. Rowse and the young miss who soon will be "the ex-Mrs. Rowse" insist severing of the ties that bind is an amicable arrangement, with both sides smiling and happy.

LAWYER'S MATE TO FIGHT

The allegation that she deserted him four times was branded a falsehood by Mrs. Wilhelmina Jane Breeden, who yesterday made counter charges in her answer to the divorce suit of Attorney Waldo P. Breeden.

Last week the husband, who is a prominent member of the bar, filed a bill of particulars alleging that his wife had left him four times. The last time he says was on June 24, 1925, when he was attending the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Bar Association at Bedford Springs. At that time, he avers, Mrs. Breeden left their home in Dormont and went to Dayton, O.

Mrs. Breeden's answer states that the bill of particulars contains manifold falsehoods, misstatements and uncertainties."

BRADDOCK CO. NAMED IN DRY LAW INJUNCTION BID

Under the provisions of the nuisance clause of the prohibition enforcement act an injunction suit was filed in Common Pleas Court today by Special Deputy Attorney General Robert Ewing against the Home Beverage Company of Braddock. An order for the destruction of all high-power beer on hand and cessation of further activities is asked.

Denies Four Desertions of Hubby

"Manifold falsehoods, misstatements and uncertainties" is the manner in which Mrs. Wilhelmina Jane Breeden described in her formal answer the divorce bill of particulars filed by her husband, Attorney Waldo P. Breeden. The husband declares she deserted him four times.

JAPANESE PLAN CUTS NAVIES

GENEVA, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—The Japanese compromise proposal, made to save the tripartite naval conference from failure, provides that Great Britain and Japan shall cease building cruisers when they reach the end of their present authorized programs, and, up to 1931, the number of 10,000-ton cruisers shall be limited to 12 for Great Britain and the United States, and eight for Japan, it was reported by reliable authorities today.

The plan also calls for a secondary class of cruisers with a maximum of 8,000 tons each, but nothing is said about 8-inch guns in connection with this type of cruiser.

The plan proceeds by suggesting that, if any building program becomes a menace to the other signatories, they could be empowered to denounce the arrangement. The United States would undertake not to exceed the British cruiser strength before 1931.

Americans interpret the Japanese compromise to mean that, if the British stop with their present strength, that strength would constitute the total cruiser tonnage up to 1931.

Your Smile and Your Teeth

Priscilla Dean

Now Gums Like Coral; Teeth Like Pearls

DENTAL science now proves that off-color teeth can be whitened; tender gums firmed and given healthy coral color. One's whole appearance is changed.

Famous $100,000 stars of the movies use this new method as a "make-up" before going on a scene. That is why movie smiles are so gleamingly white. Leading dentists widely advise it, because it protects the teeth and gums.

It is called Pepsodent—a new-type tooth paste that works by removing the dingy film coat from teeth that old-time dentifrices did not clear off successfully. That's why brushing has failed you.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you'll feel that film. A slippery coating that absorbs discolorations and keeps your teeth off color; that breeds bacteria and invites tooth decay, gum troubles and pyorrhea.

Remove it and you will be amazed at what you see. Discard old ways now. Get Pepsodent at any drug store. Or send for 10-day tube.

A committee of judges passes on all contributions and while their decisions are not always infallible, they are based on their best judgment as to what selections best fulfill the established requirements. Arrangements for the daily award of 25 sets of tickets were made through the Stanley Company of America, which has direction of the Davis Theater.

VOODOO DOCTOR ARRESTED

A Negro voodoo doctor was lodged in Center Avenue Police Station last night, after a struggle with police, charged with having attacked Miss Inez Adams, aged 21, a Negro woman domestic in a Beechwood boulevard home.

The victim told police, the accused man, Gad Bitimons, aged 53, of 78 Fullerton street, had been summoned to administer spiritual aid to her. The voodooist rubbed an ointment on her forehead and while holding a cloth, saturated with a liquid, over her face, chanted a song. She fell asleep.

DEAD MAN ON PAYROLL IS EXPLAINED

Elmer Robinson, of Rankin, father-in-law of the late William Parrish, World War veteran, who, it was alleged recently by County Controller C. C. McGovern, was kept on the county payroll long after his death, explained the circumstances in a letter to county heads of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Mr. Robinson's letter:

"William Parrish's loving memory is all that is left to his widow and three minor children. During the administration of County Commissioner Robert S. Cain, Parrish, who had been gassed in the Meuse-Argonne offensive, was given a position as utility man in the Court House.

Later he learned that, as a result of his service in France, he had contracted tuberculosis, but continued to work except for short periods of illness. When his illness became acute, he was sent to the government hospitals at Washington and Aspinwall. During his confinement in these hospitals, his work was done by Mr. Robinson and the salary given to the wife of the soldier.

"When he died at Aspinwall I continued performing his work and turning his salary over to my daughter, the soldier's wife, with whom I reside, but neglected to officially report his death to the Commissioners.

"In January, when the Commissioners otherwise learned of his death, they dropped his name from the payroll and appointed me to his place so that I might continue providing for my daughter and grandchildren.

"I did his work and the county was not cheated. I think it is a shame to publicly brand my son-in-law's name the way Mr. McGovern does."

5,000-MILE HOP FONCK'S AIM

NEW YORK, August 2.—(AP.)—Captain Rene Fonck, French war ace, plans to start from Roosevelt Field within a few weeks in an attempted hop of approximately 5,100 miles to Constantinople.

His new Sikorsky plane is nearing completion in the factory at College Point, N. Y. Fonck's attempted take-off on a flight across the Atlantic last September ended in disaster.

The tentative route for the Constantinople flight will take the plane over Ireland, across the borders of France, Germany, Austria, Rumania and Bulgaria.

Fonck returned here last April bringing with him two Bristol-Jupiter motors for his plane. His flight companion will be Lieut. L. W. Curtin, U. S. N.

LEVINE DENIES QUARREL

NOTTINGHAM, England, Aug. 2.—(A. P.)—Charles A. Levine, who came here from Paris to witness the last day of the air pageant, denied emphatically the report that he had quarrelled with Maurice Drouhin, French airman, and that he had come here to find a pilot to replace Drouhin in the projected flight of the Bellanca monoplane Columbia from Paris to New York.

"The story is all nonsense," Levine said. "I can't understand how it originated. I am not looking for a British pilot. Drouhin is a good man, and he will take me back."

PLANES KILL 7 IN ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Two aviators at the Ashburne flying field were killed last night when their plane crashed 2,000 feet and landed in a prairie near Oak Lawn in the southeastern part of the city.

They were John Hubly, former air mail pilot, and William Quase, both experienced fliers.

This tragedy, the third of its kind here within a week, brought the total number of deaths to seven. Two were killed near the same spot Saturday night and three others lost their lives a week ago near Morton Grove.

Bees Get Wet, Die; Railroad Sued For $50,000

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Because it is alleged to have allowed millions of honey bees to get wet and die, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad yesterday was made defendant in a $50,000 damage suit.

J. W. Cunnea of Chicago, the plaintiff, claims that two cars, containing 590 swarms of honey bees, were shipped from Pike Road, Ala., but that more than two-thirds or 101,250,000 died because rain entered the cars. The others were saved by feeding them three tons of wet sugar, which, with the 170,000 pounds of honey the lost ones would have produced, was included in the damages asked.

GERMAN FLIER PAYS VISA FEE

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—(A. P.)—In his desire to proceed correctly through all stages of his proposed transatlantic flight, Otto Koennecke, the German aviator, has made application for an American tourist visa. In accordance with consular regulations he had to pay a $10 visa fee.

Questioned whether it might not be an act of courtesy to grant Koennecke a free visa in view of the purposes of his flight, which his companion, Count Georg Solms-Laubach, said was being undertaken as a compliment to the American people, the visa division of the Berlin consulate declared: "There is no way of avoiding the $[illegible] provision unless Koennecke has a diplomatic passport, in which case the embassy can give a diplomatic visa."

Total of all work permitted for last month was $2,813,964, included in which were permits for new residence buildings amounting to $1,708,550. FEWER PERMITS

The number of residence building permits issued last month was smaller than either the preceding month or July, 1926, but the total value held well up near that of the same month last year owing to the fact that plans were approved and the permit issued for the new Park Mansions apartment in [illegible] street, Fourteenth Ward, estimated to cost $772,000.

WESTERN MINES RECEIVE RAIL RATE CUT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Following up its recent decision favoring Northern bituminous mines in the lake cargo coal rate case, the Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered rates to the Northwest reduced for Indiana and Illinois mines and increased for Western Kentucky mines.

As in the lake cargo case, the commission held that Northern mines, which are generally unionized, have been under a disadvantage in competing for markets during recent years with Southern mines, which are generally non-union.

A part of the reason for the general increase of Southern mine production and decrease in Northern mine production, the commission held, lay in bad adjustment of railroad rates.

In the first decision on the subject, which touched lake cargo coal, the commission ordered a reduction given the Northern fields and no reduction given the Southern. Today's decision, though a minority of the commission object strenuously, applied the same principle to the Middle Western territory.

On coal mined in the Danville district of Illinois, railroads were instructed to fix a rate of $1.35 per ton to the Chicago switching district, as compared with a present rate of $1.57; from the Brazil-Clinton territory of Indiana, a present rate of $1.60 per ton was ordered cut to $1.55 and from the Linton-Sullivan territory in Indiana to Chicago a rate of $1.79 per ton was ordered cut to $1.65.

'DROP IN! SURE,' SAYS AIRMAN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2.—(A. P.)—Albert C. Johnson, airman, and luggage arrived by parachute at the Ambassador Hoted here yesterday, drooping in for a meeting of the board of directors of the Southern California Chapter of the National Aeronautic Association.

Due to certain miscalculations when he jumped from the speeding western air express plane which brought him from Salt Lake City, Johnson missed the Hors D'Ouevers and by a small margin a clump of bamboo trees. But he was in time for soup.

A bell-hop snatched his luggage as he landed in a nonchalant sitting attitude.

Iced India Tea
is better—and safer than any other drink during hot weather. It cools the whole body without harmful effect. It stimulates the entire system. It tones up the stomach.
You can easily make iced India Tea at home, or you can try it at any soda fountain. Here is the correct way to make it:
USE an earthenware teapot previously warmed—Put into it at least one teaspoonful of India Tea for each glass of tea—the stronger the tea the better. Be sure the water is poured into the teapot the moment it boils and allow to stand for 4 or 5 minutes to infuse—Fill each glass with cracked ice, add a slice of lemon, and pour in the tea—Add sugar to taste.

India Tea
or blends containing
INDIA TEA
possess unique properties which make them particularly suited to iced drinks. Try Iced India Tea and you will agree that it is the most cooling and stimulating drink you have ever tasted.

Issued by the Growers of India Tea

STATE LICENSES 163 DEALERS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Fifty-eight applications for dealers' registration were refused and 163 granted during the past year, the report of the Pennsylvania Securities Commission today revealed. The annual report was transmitted from the commission to Peter G. Cameron, secretary of banking.

The report, dated August 1, showed that 695 dealers and 2,770 salesmen are registered with the bureau to sell securities in the state.

Of the 58 applicants who were refused, four took appeals to the Dauphin county court. In each instance the court reversed the action of the bureau and directed the petitioners be registered.

RADIO SPREADS FIRE ALARM

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—(A P)—The radio has achieved new fame—spreading a fire alarm.

It happened in Chicago yesterday as a crowd of firemen were gathered about the loudspeaker at their headquarters listening to an announcer tell of the Cubs ball game. Suddenly the announcer broke into his account with the report that he could see the roof of a nearby house bursting in flames.

Without waiting for further alarm, the firemen jumped on their trucks and were at the scene before the regular alarm was turned in.

HOLLYWOOD HAS A RIVAL

LANKERSHIM, CAL., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Hollywood, center of the motion picture industry, has a rival.

The postmaster here has received notification from the Postmaster General that after August 15, Lankershim, known as "the home of the peach," will be called North Hollywood.

The change in name was petitioned by a majority of the 12,500 residents because, they declared, the opening of motion picture studios here has made peaches of the screen variety the chief industrial asset.

DOZEN READY FOR AIR RACE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—The last day on which fliers may enter the James D. Dole $35,000 airplane race from the North American mainland to Honolulu dawned today with 20 entries in the contest, and flight officials are confident that from two to four more would enter before midnight when the entry list closes.

Details preliminary to the start on August 12 have been virtually completed. The new 5,700 foot runway at Mills Field, San Francisco's new airport, is ready for trial flights.

EQUITABLE GAS EMPLOYES IN TWO LEAGUE CONTESTS

Equitable Gas Company will engage in two league contests this week and from all indications will have to step fast to keep their winning streak intact and remain at the top of the league standing. Tonight the Byllesby Engineering and Management Company team will be met and the sensational playing of the Engineers makes it one of the most dangerous threats for the championship to be met at this time. On Thursday Manager Boyle's outfit will be tested to the extreme by Pittsburgh Railways. Both games will be played on the Duquesne University field, starting at 6:30 p. m.

CHICAGO WORLD'S FAIR IDEA TO BE ABANDONED

Man Breaks 7-Story Fall of Baby and Both Live

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 1—(AP.)—Roland Wolfe, two, will live to tell of his seven-story fall from the Hermitage Hotel unless hurt internally, physicians said today. He suffered a broken arm and leg.

Raymond Garnetts, of New York, upon whom the child fell, recovered consciousness 10 minutes later and insisted he was not hurt much. He was cut badly across the forehead.

The greater part of the child's fall was witnessed by his father, W. C. Wolfe, who was attracted by the rustling of curtains and saw the baby roll off the window ledge.

Girl Pastor's Sermon "Too Strong" For Elders—Quits

[illegible], Ark., Aug. 2.—(A. P.)—Miss Garnett Gunter, twenty-one-year-old pastor of the First Christian Church, has resigned because, she explained, "I just preached too strong for them." She plans to start a series of revivals here.

Notified that the elders of the church had decided against a revival because of the expense, Miss Gunter resigned.

"I just preached too strong for them and they said so themselves," Miss Gunter said. "One of them told me if I didn't trample on anyone's toes I'd get along all right."

The girl minister had been preaching since she was fifteen.

HUNT GIRLS, FEAR FOUL PLAY

Pottsville, Pa., August 2.—(I. N.)—Fearing that self-styled agents of a chain of eastern Pennsylvania roadhouses may have been responsible for the disappearance of Ethel Boyer and Lillian Green, both aged 16 years, of Pottsville, state police and county authorities today began a widespread search for the two girls, missing for more than a week.

The Boyer girl's mother, Mrs. E. E. Boyer, told police that her daughter and the Green girl went for a ride with a number of men at Schuylkill Park, and that she fears foul play.

Pittsburgh creates a new Food

Rice, one of the world's oldest foods, has been given a new importance to health and happiness by a process discovered and developed by the House of Heinz, and its Fellowship in Mellon Institute of Industrial Research.

Heinz Rice Flakes! You have never tasted food quite so good . . . You have never realized that any cereal could be so beneficial as these crisp, tender, golden-brown flakes of rice with a popcorn flavor which ever calls for more!

Behind all this goodness there is another reason for eating Heinz Rice Flakes. This new process, owned and used exclusively by Heinz, so utilizes the natural roughage of the rice that it imparts a moisture-absorbing property which is one of Nature's best eliminative aids. This means better health.

Heinz Rice Flakes are always crisp in cream or milk. Eat them daily. Give the children all they want.

U. S. OF EUROPE PUT FORWARD IN SPAIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—(AP.)—Suggestions in the Madrid press for a United States of Europe, disassociated from the League of Nations and pledged to eternal peace maintained by means of an international army have been drawn to public attention here by the Spanish Embassy.

The proposal calls for the establishment of an international tribunal composed of one representative and one substitute from every European country. This tribunal would pass unappealable decisions upon every question which might give rise to violent conflict.

The decisions would be enforced by united action of all countries against eventual rebels, utilizing as first coercive means economic and diplomatic boycott. Should these fail then the international army at the disposal of the tribunal would be called upon.

TURKS STILL WEAR FEZ, BRAVING THREAT OF JAIL

ANGORA, Turkey, Aug. 2—Law and the fear of jail are not strong enough to abolish the fez altogether. While they never are seen in public (for arrest would follow immediately) many a good Republican Turk, in the privacy of his home, puts on the old reliable red cloth top-piece.

Ex-Patrol Driver Caught in Raid On Still

W. E. Dunn, of Tustin street, who until a few months ago drove the Central police station patrol wagon, was arrested yesterday by prohibition officers in a raid on a building at 1311-3 Watson street. In the other section of the building the raiders found a 100-gallon still and other contraband. Fumes emanating from the building led to the raid.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl

"My dear, I'm honestly WHIPPED down to a NUB at this point, no less, because I have made the most TREPidating disCOVery you've ever KNOWN! ACtually, my dear, I can't BEAR it because the other day I sort of CASurally discovered that this odd soul NOIsy plays one of these musical SAW things that you see these odd bennies in VAUDEville play sometimes, do you know what I mean? Well, my dear in the hands of NOIsy, my SILent KNIGHT, this SAW effect honestly sounds like NOTHing HUman, because he HONestly proDUces the most heart-RENdering STRAINS you've ever HEARD—can you BEAR it? Well, ANYways, my dear, I NEARly had hysTERics, because he sort of LOOKED so frightfully SOLemn about it and all, do you know what I mean? And, my dear, he was attempting to RENder that FOUL ditty which has that 'WHO-O-O-O' thing in it and sort of keeps rePEATing it over and OVer until you NEARly exPIRE because it is so kind of exASperating and all, do you know what I mean? Because I HONestly think these song that just rePEAT the same THING over and over aGAIN are SIMply VILE—I mean I ACtually DO!"

The Misfit

By JANE PHELPS

(Copyright by George Matthew Adams Service.)

NATALIE felt often that Mrs. Crandell was watching her, weighing her. Daily she grew more at ease when with her, often making some daring reply or suggestion, always wondering at her temerity. Her mother passed away suddenly, and Mrs. Crandell was so sympathetic, so thoughtful, sending flowers, offering to attend the funeral if Natalie wished, that Natalie felt she almost loved her. She did not grieve unduly. She had left home when a very young girl and had seen her mother but once since she left. But she was touched by Mrs. Crandell's sympathy and kindness.

Upon her return from the funeral, Mrs. Crandell's kindness continued. Natalie felt she would not grieve at all if she could feel it would continue—if Horace's mother would be a mother to her.

"I can't thank you," she said with quivering lips.

"Do not try. Perhaps you will call me mother now that she is gone."

"Oh, may I?" Natalie asked. "You don't know how I have longed to!"

"I am growing old, perhaps. I shouldn't have cared to be called mother when you first married my son. If I feel differently now, see things a little clearer, it should cause no surprise on your part."

"It gives me great happiness," Natalie said, then tactfully left the room, feeling it had cost the dignified woman before her an effort to concede so much.

Quietly Natalie slipped into the way of calling Mrs. Crandell "mother" when they were alone, or with Horace, but never presumed to do so before others. She saw her tactfulness pleased Mrs. Crandell, although she did not mention it.

Aside from the feeling of intimacy this and Mrs. Crandell's ceasing to ignore her gave her, Natalie's life was in no respect changed. She was still a nonentity as far as anything connected with the home was concerned, still spent much of her time alone, or with her own friends. But she had ceased to feel hurt, had accepted the arrangement. Only at times was she actively unhappy, only at times felt resentment because of her position.

Perhaps had it not been for a secret Natalie hugged close in her heart she would have gone on indefinitely without awakening any further response from the older woman. But one day, unaccountably depressed, she was weeping bitterly in her rooms. Weeping, as she told herself, without reason, save for a feeling of utter loneliness in what she realized would be a matter of rejoicing to Horace when she told him. But she had hidden her inmost thoughts so long that it was hard to give him her confidence. She would tell him soon though.

Sobbing as if her heart were breaking, Natalie did not hear Mrs. Crandell enter. Then she felt comforting arms about her and a quiet, cool voice asked:

"What is it, Natalie? Why are you weeping?"

In a rush of words mingled with sobs Natalie told her secret. Told it, with her head pillowed on the breast of the woman she had hated, was gathered into loving arms, laughed and cried over, petted, made to feel that she should never feel lonely again.

It was an hour of confidences. Both women went back and purged their minds of all they had felt against the other, both begging pardon for what they had done. When Horace came in at dusk he found them sitting hand in hand waiting for him.

For Natalie everything was changed. She no longer felt any resentment because of her position in the household—now that of a loved daughter whom the mother relieved of all care. And her happiness was augmented because she was made to realize that it was not because a grandchild was expected, someone to inherit the old name, but because she herself understood and loved.

Mrs. Crandell's cold, quiet manner changed little, but Natalie appreciated she could not expect her to change in that way. But she was no longer lonely, out of things. Horace was like a boy in his delight.

"I knew once you understood each other all would be right," he told Natalie. "Mother has a heart of gold hidden under her dignified manner. And you—you know how much I love you."

"I am no longer a misfit. They have made me one of them."

THE END.

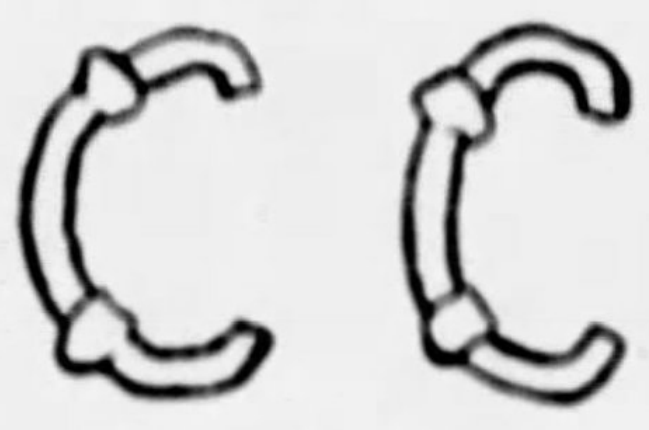
Any Pretzeleer Can Reach High C

Yes, even the basso profundo Professo Pretzino we picture tosses off a perfectly pitched C upon the slightest provocation. You need no ear for music to recognize a good C when you see one. Pretzeleers don't bite by ears, but by teeth. And they do their letters in O-So-Guds. Like this:



Musical or not, it's a pleasure to pretzeleer. Even bass drummers do it when they get a chance at O-So-Guds. These pretzels are baked by Uneeda Bakers. Baked brown. Baked crisp. Baked brittle. And with a fine hearty saltiness that makes you want more and more.

Serve pretzels with soup, salad and dessert—with iced drinks, cheese and hors d'oeuvres. They're good to eat with meals or without.

Especially recommended for children because they are so easy to digest and good for teeth and gums.

Ask your grocer how many people are taking home pretzels made by Uneeda Bakers.

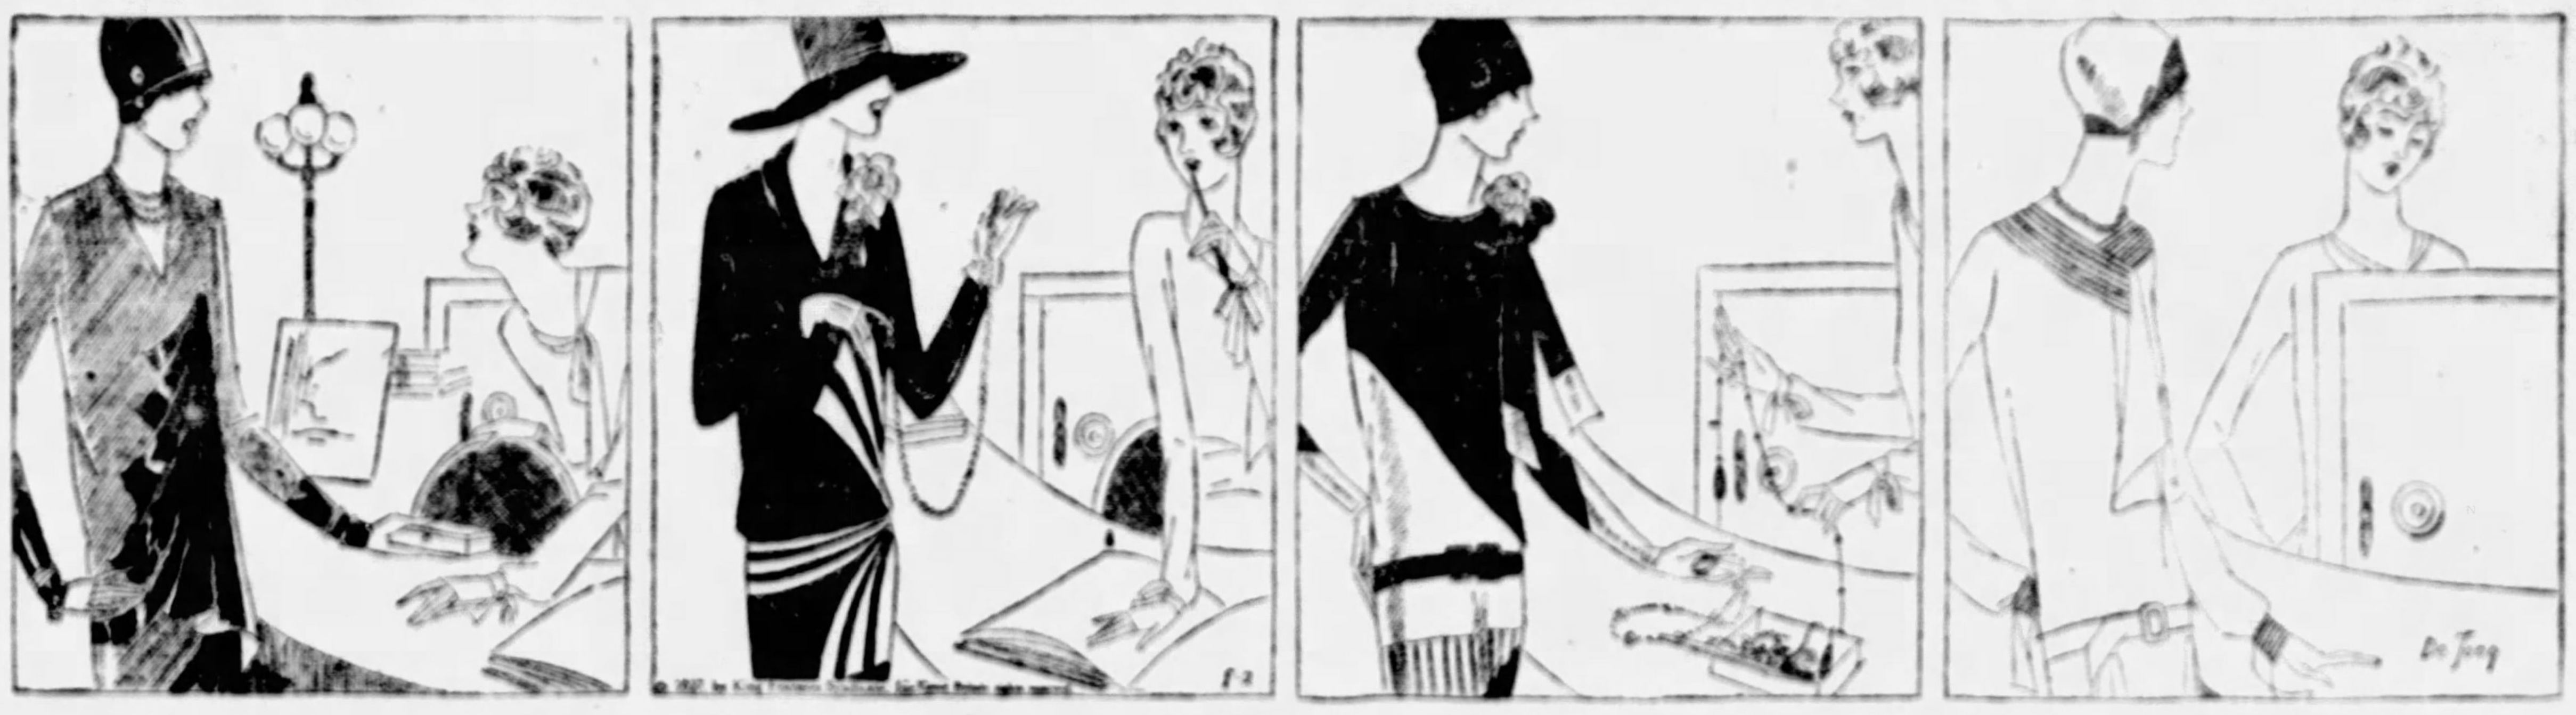
CHIC CHERIE ✣ HIGH MORAL PRINCIPLES. ✣ LATEST FASHIONS



Dina and Cherie are recovering from a sudden lack of money in the middle of vacation. Dina's job is watching the desk in a hotel. The desk really isn't worth watching, but ladies who wear dresses of crepe satin with applied diagonals for trimming are worth admiring any time.

Something more to go in the safe. The pearls aren't as enthralling as the gown. It's a black satin affair that suggests advance Fall fashions and it is trimmed with assorted sunbursts of applied satin bands and has the roll collar that is just being introduced in new frocks everywhere.

The spiral line is one of the smartest of new fashion features and here it is in its ultimate perfection in a frock of crepe satin which uses both sides of the fabric. The shoulder bow and buckled belt are no drawbacks either. Do you wonder Dina accepts the lady's jewels with an absent-minded air?

It's only when Cherie comes in in a dress of rose-beige crepe trimmed with stitching that Dina remembers the dull facts of life. "I'm broke," says Dina. "Shall we flee with the plunder?" "I simply couldn't bear to wear a prison costume," answers Cherie, and virtue triumphs proudly once again.

Quicksands of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

A New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

MY VANITY gave a little secret purr of pleasure at Hugh Grantland's manner as he asked me if I could keep Katie out of the way during the interview which he wished to have with my father during the next few hours. It held exactly the old tone of admiring certainty that I would be ready for any emergency without explanation which always had been in his voice during the days of our government work together.

"Of course," I said briskly. "I will keep Katie in the kitchenette and I will do my own work in my room next to this, where I can see to it that no one comes through the small corridor leading to the rear. That leaves only the entrance to the public hall which I will bolt. Then if you sit over here near the window and keep your voices reasonably low neither I nor any other possibly can hear you. If a knock comes on that door leading into the hall, just call me, and I will go from the rear room into the hall and find out what is wanted. No one will ever know that you are here unless some one saw you come in."

"We saw no one coming up," Hugh said slowly, "and I am sure sure the people—interested—in our movements"—the ghost of a sardonic smile touched his lips—"are still following my chauffeur, whose skill enabled us to get a taxi unobserved. Everything is all right now. I knew we could depend upon you."

There was a slight emphasis upon the last word, which, coupled with the look in the gray eyes looking into mine, was like a draught of heady wine to my spirit. But I compelled my voice to a perfunctory "Thank you," and went on to a commonplace.

"You will have time for a cup of tea, will you not? I told Katie to prepare it as soon as she told me you were here."

"You are always so thoughtful," he said, "and I am sure we shall especially enjoy a cup of tea just now, for our lunch was a hurried and sketchy affair. But wouldn't it be better to wait until your father's arrival. His train will be due at the station inside of the next 10 minutes, and when I talked with him before he left I told him to have the taxi driver take the river streets up, thus avoiding traffic. It won't take him long to get up here."

"Then, of course, if you have time we will wait for him," I said, betraying no hint of the surprise I felt over my father's impending arrival, for I had not expected him until later in the week. "If you will excuse me, I will tell Katie."

I hurried to the kitchenette and gave my little maid instructions to add some substantial sandwiches and an omelet to the tea tray, and also to make a pot of coffee for my father. She flashed a startled look at me when I told her of his change in plans, and I saw in her eyes the same half frightened speculation which had been there upon a day weeks before when she betrayed her knowledge of the cablegram Hugh Grantland had sent to my father through me. But surprisingly she made no comment upon my news, except her invariable cheery, "All right, I fixx."

"Have everything on the tray except the omelet, the coffee and the tea," I told her. "Then the second my father arrives put the omelet in the pan and set your coffee on. I'll make the tea at the table. By the time he's taken off his things and exchanged greetings with us you can be ready, can't you?"

"Sure thing," she agreed with a nonchalance which I knew was rooted in her knowledge of her own sure-fire efficiency, and when I opened the door to my father a few minutes later, I caught sight of a wildly waving hand from the kitchenette door and knew that in my little maid's own language she was "strictly on dot job."

For the Lovelorn

By ELEANOR GALE

Lonesome Blue Eyes.

DEAR MISS GALE:

Do you think that a girl of 16 is old enough to realize whether or not that peculiar fascination called love, has really come to her? Well, I got married when 16 and I am very unhappy. I asked the boy to marry me. I thought I loved him until I married. Yes, he gave me a beautiful home, paid for and everything I want, except that I crave for good times, parties, dances, swimming, skating and sports, but he does not want to take me to any of them. He is very jealous and never allows me to go out without him being with me. Why is that? He says he trusts me, but Miss Gale, is he telling the truth? He takes me everywhere with him. He goes to shows, but I get tired of them. He listens to his people and won't listen to me. Why is that, Miss Gale? It makes me feel hurt? He used to make over me but no more. Could you answer that? I used to lie to him, but I told him I'd tell him the truth after I married him and I don't think he believes my stories. He always wants me to prove them. Why is this? Do you think a man loves his wife if he doesn't believe her, trust her? I am true also. So is he, but how can I be happy? He used to go with a girl who lives by us. I do believe he still cares for her but he can't for one reason and I don't know. He says I am not jealous of him and I don't care for him. What can I do to keep his love? I have written before, but haven't seen my letter in the Tele, so I hope I have it this time. He has it all to say. He is boss. What should I do? Keep on letting him do this? I am so upset, Miss Gale, that I'd like for you to give me some of your advice, as I never got any at home. Is there any harm in a young married girl going to dances. Of course you can make harm of anything at all. Closing, thanking you for your space and time.

LONESOME BLUE EYES.

Of course no 16-year-old girl is capable of knowing whether she is really in love or not. That is the foundation of your unhappiness, my dear. You have not had enough good times and are unwilling to settle down. Your husband should really take you out more, but don't go out alone. It is very unwise. If you lied to him once how can you expect him to believe you implicitly, my dear. You must re-win his confidence.

Old Maid Preacher.

DEAR MISS GALE:

I want to talk to your reader, "Fanat." My, but you have wonderfully fashionable ideas, but I wouldn't trade them for my old maid's ideas. You say there is no love. Oh, yes, there is, just the same as there is this crazy stuff like petting, drinking and smoking. You say experience teaches. Yes it does, but I don't like the way it teaches you. Why don't you put your thinking cap on, "Fanat," and think of the future? Did you ever see a person with lots of money who showed his friends good times, and after he has no more, he is cast aside? It is the same in the fashionable-idea world. I am 19 years old, go to work, dress neatly, not hard to look at and have loads of friends of both sexes. So you see, you don't have to have these crazy ideas. I hate the fellow to [illegible] me the second time if he talked to me like you wrote in the paper. Miss Gale, I thank you for this long space in your column. Yours,

OLD MAID PREACHER.

Since your letter is addressed to one of my correspondents, I will make no comment.

Doubtful.

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a silent reader of your column for several years. I think your advice is wonderful. This is my first time to write to you, as I am in trouble and need your advice. I am a young girl in my teens and in love with a young fellow two years my senior. We often went out together, but mother and dad never liked him. One night I stayed out until 11 o'clock. We were in his car riding. Mother and dad were awfully angry about it. They never would let me go out since that. I went out a couple of times and sent him a letter. Dad found out about it and said I'd never get out. I wrote letters and my brother gave them to him. He never would answer them. Do you think he cares for me? We are going to a picnic. Should I invite him to the picnic? He is a nice fellow. He always treats me right and respectably. Hoping to see this in print soon, I am,

DOUBTFUL.

Perhaps your parents have a very good reason for their dislike of this boy. Why not trust them in the matter and try to forget this boy? If he were really interested he would answer your letters. Don't invite him to the picnic.

TO MY READERS:

Some of you seem to have forgotten one of the rules of the department. I cannot use any letters which are written on both sides of the paper. If you have written, but have not seen the letter in print, very likely the reason was it had been written on both sides of the paper.

Bear in mind also that it is impossible to reply personally to any of my correspondents.

MY SON'S SWEETHEARTS

By Ida McGlone Gibson

WHAT HAS HAPPENED—

Philip Wynne Tracy has had a childish engagement with Natice Jones. Becoming interested in Lora Hilliard, an old friend of his mother's, he soon finds himself falling in love with her. Natice, overhearing him making love to Lora, breaks her engagement. The whole affair, however, sinks into nothingness because America enters the World war.

Phil enlists and is soon in France. Just before leaving, Phil meets Natice again and they plan to be married. The immediate departure of the troops, however, prevents this.

After the armistice, Phil is awarded a scholarship in a French university and he returns to Paris. His mother not having heard from him for months, goes to France and finds him.

Mrs. Tracy learns that Phil intends to marry a rich French divorcee with a four-year-old child.

Phil's mother tells him she will not give her consent, according to French law—to his marriage with Pat, until after he is 21.

Phil agrees to give up Pat for two years, if his mother will refuse Major Aukland's proposal of marriage. This she promises to do.

Here the story further unfolds—

CHAPTER XLIX. JOHN AUKLAND AND MRS. TRACY PART.

"I think it's very fair, Phillip," said Anne, quickly. "If Pat really loves you, under the circumstances two years is not long to wait. . . . Of course you will not believe it now, but I am sure you are both much more in love with love than you are with each other. You two met at just the right moment, but if you had not, I am sure it would have been someone else with both of you."

"Well, I wish I didn't have to tell her, anyway," said Phil, boyishly. "Still I do not think it will come to her in the nature of a surprise, for all the while she has said that you would not give your consent."

"She knew, Son, that reasonably I could not."

"Perhaps I had better see her tonight and get it all over with. In the meantime," he said, slyly, "you might tell the Major the conclusions we have come to."

"Phil, you do John Aukland a great wrong. He is really the finest man I have ever met, and I often wonder what my life would have been had I married him instead of your father."

"Don't, Mother, don't bring up that old idea again. I think I'd rather not have been born than have had him for a father. Get on your wraps, we'll go over to the legation the first thing. I'll have to work fast if I'm discharged before the Sorbonne classes break up."

The day was very full. At the legation Anne found that Phil would be able to get his discharge papers, on that side, but it would probably be a week or two before he would get them.

At a branch of the London tailors on Rue de Opera it took some time for Phil to order six suits of clothes and then Mrs. Tracy was ready to go back to the hotel for dinner. It seemed to her when Phil bade her goodby at the door of the shop before getting into the taxi, he seemed much more carefree than he had in the morning, and although she was tired, her heart was lighter than it had been in many months.

When she arrived at the hotel she found John Aukland waiting for her. Until then, she had forgotten, as she always forgot, everything but his wishes when Phil asked her to do a thing that she had promised to dine and go for a motor ride with him that evening.

"What have you been doing to yourself, Anne?" he said. "You are looking happier than you've looked for weeks."

"Phil is going to be discharged on this side."

"I shouldn't think that would make you happy, dear. Then you've given your consent to his marriage with this French woman?"

"Not at all. He's going to return with me to the United States, but I can't tell you about it now, dear John. Wait for me about 20 minutes while I get into a dinner dress. I'm really very hungry."

Anne Tracy did not look into John Aukland's face, or she would have been a film of sadness come into his eyes. However, he said nothing, except: "I'll wait for you here."

He thought she had never looked more beautiful than when she came toward him in the hotel foyer, and something clutched at his heart, because he knew that if Phil was going back to the States with her, he had probably exacted from his mother the promise that she would stay single for his sake.

However, nothing was said about it until they were sitting over their coffee and cigarets in the lovely Le Doyen restaurant on the Champs Elysee. It was Anne's favorite cafe, so quiet and far from the madding crowd. Her thoughts were particularly happy tonight, until Major Aukland asked: "When do you expect to go home, Anne?"

"As soon as we can," she answered. "I hope you will be able to go on the same boat."

"No, I will not."

"Why are you so sure, John?"

"Because, Anne, I have decided that I shall dangle no longer about you. You haven't been kind to me."

"Don't say that, John."

"I must say it.

Phil visits Pat to settle their tangled affairs. What does she say? Read what happens in the next chapter.

The Peril of High Blood Pressure

High blood pressure is dangerous because it shows there are deadly poisons in your system. Until you get rid of these accumulated body poisons you are inviting heart trouble and apoplexy.

The new, pleasant way to do this is with Lithuric salts—a compound of those mineral salts found in nature's most famous health springs with the fruit acids of lemons and grapes. This sparkling, effervescent drink, taken before breakfast will flush the intestines, stimulate the liver and assist the kidneys. All organs of elimination are helped, with the result that poisons are quickly expelled and blood pressure is lowered. Thousands use it. Doctors recommend it. If your blood pressure is high, get a large inexpensive bottle of Lithuric salts at any May Drug Co. store, or of any other good druggist, today and start taking it tomorrow morning.—Advertisement.

Corn Pudding with a Spanish Accent

Here's a brand-new recipe. Not many women know it yet, but it's going to be mighty popular in a short time. It's your old friend corn pudding—but with a Spanish accent! And with a new creamy deliciousness that comes from the super-richness of Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk. Try it!

Spanish Corn Pudding

- 1½ cups green corn cut from cob (or 1 can of corn)
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons pimento pepper chopped
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
- 2 eggs beaten

Blend together thoroughly all ingredients. Pour into buttered baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for about twenty-five minutes. Serve as an entree or as the main course of a light dinner.

Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk is the milk to use in any dish that requires both milk and sugar. It is fresh, pure, full-cream country milk, combined with finest sugar. Super-rich—because most of the water has been removed. (Bottled milk is 87% water.) Super-smooth—because the sugar is blended in by a method you can't equal at home. And super-economical—super-convenient—because it keeps for days after the can is opened—even without ice.

Watch this space for other delicious recipes. And remember this: Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk will cream-and-sugar your coffee to rich, mellow perfection—at one-half the cost of separate cream and sugar! . . . Get it from your grocer today!—Advertisement.

Corns, Callouses Off in 3 Minutes

Three minutes ends the toughest, most painful corn or callous when you use Shur-off. This amazing new remedy stops all pain the instant it is applied; positively will not irritate or affect healthy skin, but so quickly softens the corn or callous that in a few minutes you can easily take it out—root and all. Why use old-time preparations which so often irritate and require several days treatment? Get Shur-off at any May Drug Co. store, or of any other good druggist, follow the simple directions and enjoy real foot-comfort at once.—Advertisement.

"BETTY" By FAITH BALDWIN

The Fascinating Love Story of a Girl of the Present Day

Realizing Her Love for Bob, Betty Settles Down to Her Recovered Happiness

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Pretty black-haired Betty Warren goes on a pleasure trip with some friends, including Bob Stevenson. Betty lives with her mother and two sisters in Brooklyn and works as a typist in New York City. The girl and the young man leave before the others so that they can enjoy each other's company on the trip home from Coney Island. As the next day is a Sunday, the whole Warren family assembles for dinner. Helen, th[illegible]-year-old beauty of the family; Gladys, the artistic dreamer; Mrs. Warren, motherly and impractical, and finally, Betty's married sister, Virginia, with her little boy, Junior, and her husband, Jim, who was gassed in the war. Virginia is despondent about her husband's health. Betty is acquainted with a wealthy author, Anson Lorrimer, and Virginia urges her to try to attract him. The next day Lorrimer visits Betty's office with some typing he wants her to do. Betty is oblivious of his admiration. Bob asks Betty to marry him, and she accepts. Betty's brother-in-law becomes so ill that he must be sent to a western hospital. To Betty it means an indefinite postponement of her marriage to Bob. Betty and Bob have a trivial argument. Bob is very angry when he leaves her home. Lorrimer invites Betty out to lunch and she accepts.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

WITH another girl it would have been easy. Just the money. A nice new bill or a check, perhaps. The approach would have differed only in the method. He could have tossed the sum across the table to some girls. For others he would have had to tuck it in a box of flowers or a box of stockings or send it in a very brilliant little letter. But with Bettty—well, he simply couldn't offer that sort of help at all. He was quite astute enough to know it, too.

"Are you happy in your work at the agency?" he asked, feeling his way.

She nodded.

"Yes, I like it very much. They're all so good to me, too. But, of course, there is no future there. It's not the fault of the job," she added quickly, "it's my own fault. You see, although I am a good typist that is really all I am. I never intended to stay just in that rut. I meant to have my knowledge of typing serve me as a foundation . . . a stepping stone . . . as it could easily be. I wanted to take some special secretarial course and become a really first-class stenographer and more, but . . . but I haven't had the time."

He understood without her saying it that she had not had the money either. But he wanted to hear it from her own lips. It gave him pleasure to force such humble little confessions; it made him feel like he had great power or generosity . . . when it suited him.

"Are they so expensive . . . these courses?"

"No . . . but, well, you see when I get the money saved there is always another—generally unexpected—use for it," she explained flushing.

"Ah, I see. Well, let me think. There must be a way out of this. I have several leads, of course, although I haven't a business as you well know. I've a cousin, a lawyer, but I believe that to work up to a secretary in a great law office does take some specialized knowledge. I've another cousin in Wall Street—chap named Peter Lessways. Perhaps you have heard of him? He's a great one for getting his picture in the paper. And then I know a man who is part owner of a large advertising business, Weston and Sterns. Perhaps that would be a good thing for you. To get in there, I think they would pay a better salary than does the Agency. I don't know. But if you will permit me, I'll make inquiries."

Betty was scarlet now with embarrassment, hope and thankfulness.

"But I don't want you to—to go to any trouble, to—" she stammered.

He laughed.

"What you are trying to say is that you are too independent a small person to want me to do any wire pulling for you—to use my influence in any undue way. Isn't that it?" he teased. Again he knew he had read her aright by the look in her eyes and the nervous, half confessional smile she gave him.

"Please, I didn't mean to be—ungrateful or rude," she begged.

"I know and I honor you for your thought. I promise I won't pull wires. I will merely ask my friends if they have a vacancy. And if they have not, to let me know when one occurs. And you know very well that I can most sincerely recommend your work, don't you?"

She murmured something and he went on:

"The office is unusually pleasant I think—I know a number of the people in it. One of the copy writers, young Harry Martin, is by way of being quite a friend of mine. A very nice boy, by the way."

They left the restaurant a little later and he took her back to the office promising to let her know as soon as "something turned up."

Betty went back to her work with the relaxed, resting feeling she was beginning to have from being with him, from being waited on, from being taken care of, from being "understood." It was his strongest and most dangerous influence over her.

She was happy somehow. She had faith in Lorrimer. He would find something for her to do, something with more future, with more money. And then—then perhaps things would be all right. It wouldn't be so very very long before Helen would be out of school, before Gladys would have found her niche in the world's work, before Jim would come home to Virginia, cured and strong, able to take care of her and the boy.

All the things that had troubled her so now showed the silver lining of hope, the "once upon a time" fairy tale element. Everything would come out all right. Even Bob.

For once she was justified. For when she got home she found a shame-faced Bob waiting there. He was going to stay to supper, said Mrs. Warren, fussing lovingly about him. And supper was an embarrassing meal of much chatter and quick silence, and laughter from Helen and black looks from Virginia.

But after supper they were left alone. And he held out his arms and said, so humbly, and with wet brown eyes:

"I've been a fool . . . Oh, Betty, I've suffered so much . . . it's been hell—can you ever forgive me?"

Safe in his arms once more, loved

AIMEE TO BUILD SKYSCRAPER FOR FLOCK

LOS ANGELES, August 2.—Undismayed by civil war at Angelus Temple, and her quarrel with her mother, Aimee Semple McPherson, the evangelist, continues to evolve gigantic undertakings.

Following her announcement of a nation-wide "Lighthouse" religious organization along naval lines, the evangelist today declared her intention of erecting a modern skyscraper hotel to accommodate Bible students from all quarters of the globe.

The hotel is to be built on the site of a residence across from Angelus Temple which has been occupied by Mrs. McPherson's mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy.

CHANGES MADE IN APPRAISERS

Long expected changes in the personnel of the Allegheny County Board of Mercantile Appraisers were announced yesterday by General Edward Martin.

David D. Davies of the Fourteenth ward was dropped and his place given to David J. Davis of the Nineteenth ward, brother of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis. It was said that Davies is to be given a county position.

The position of assistant chief clerk was abolished. Sylvester Bierman, incumbent and aldermanic candidate in the Fourteenth Ward, will work in the field. His salary is reduced from $3,200 to $2,500.

Gen. Martin said that John M. Joyce, a clerk in the office, is to be replaced by William A. Reed. P. Murray Locklin, another clerk, expects to resign soon to take a Federal position.

Charming Youth

VANDERBILT IN DIVORCE CITY

RENO, Nev., Aug. 2.—(A. P.)—Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., former publisher of tabloid newspapers, plans to make his home in Reno for the next three months, he said here yesterday. Three months is the length of residence required prior to filing a divorce here. His attorney intimated that Vanderbilt would file divorce papers against his wife, Rachel Littleton Vanderbilt.

Vanderbilt said he and his wife had been separated for three years and reiterated a statement to the effect that his wife had refused to seek a divorce and that probably he would be forced to do so.

BEARD TOO OLD, HERMIT 'OUT'

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2.—"Peter of Hollywood," known also as "Peter the Hermit," aged 88, did not get the dashing male lead opposite Dolores Del Rio in the film drama "Resurrection," because he had a beard 62 years old, wouldn't wear shoes and needed his face "lifted."

Because of those three points Edwin Carewe et al., of Inspirational Pictures, producers of the picturized drama, begged the answer to the eccentric's $130,000 suit because of alleged promise of the role, filed in Superior Court yesterday. The suit also named as defendants Count Ilya Tolstoy, son of the Russian novelist, who has been serving the company as writer, actor and director, and Harry D. Wilson, Inspirational's chief of publicity.

FIVE FINED $300 IN ALA. FOR FLOGGING OF WOMAN

FLORENCE, Ala., Aug. 2.—(A. P.)—Three persons were found guilty of assault and battery and two for conspiracy to commit a misdemeanor by Judge J. R. McClure here this afternoon in connection with the flogging several weeks ago of Mrs. Bertha A. Slay.

Judd Gray Faces Danger of Being 'Broke' in Prison

HENRY JUDD GRAY, convicted with Mrs. Ruth Snyder of slaying her husband, is on the verge of going "dead broke" insofar as his prison spending money account is concerned.

Sing Sing officials yesterday revealed the fact that Gray has about exhausted the sum he deposited with Warden Lawes when he became an inmate of the death house.

This fund has been used liberally by the prisoner in procuring smoking supplies, magazines, newspapers and such other prison luxuries as are permitted him.

Gray is said to be perturbed over the problem of replenishing his supply of spending money.

Historic West Point Hotel Closes in Fall

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The old West Point Hotel, familiar to officers and cadets at the Military Academy for many years, will close its doors on October 31, the War Department announced today. The department is considering converting the building into 12 sets of officers' quarters.

PUT IN PADDED CELL, RAVING MANIAC

BOSTON, Aug. 2.—Bartolomeo Vanzetti and Nicola Sacco may escape death in the electric chair regardless of the decision of Gov. Fuller, expected tonight. The escape may be through pleas of insanity and their incarceration at the Bridgewater State Hospital for the criminally insane. This was revealed last night when it became known that Vanzetti, raving, was laced in a straight jacket and taken from his cell to the "blue room," the padded cell of the state prison at Charlestown last Friday.

No details of Vanzetti's sudden manical actions were learned. Friends believe the though of dying in the electrical chair has broken him.

Sacco collapsed from his hunger strike and was unable to rise from his cot. His mental condition is rapidly weakening too, it was said today.

Alienists have been assigned to examine both men and upon their decision as to the sanity of the pair may rest their fate.

POOR DIRECTOR DRIVE OPENS

The first of three meetings called to select Regular Republican candidates for Directors of the Poor will be held tonight in Hotel Henry, when county committee members from the Ninth and Tenth districts will name one candidate from that section. The indorsement of Dr. W. L. Henderson for re-election is expected without opposition.

The Eleventh and Twelfth district meeting, at which J. Clyde Miller probably will be supported for another term, will be held Thursday night. The Thirteenth District gathering will take place next Tuesday. H. H. Dixon is a candidate for reelection from that section, and it was said yesterday that opposition to him has been smoothed away.

Last-minute opposition to Dixon prevented the indorsement of the three directors at the "town meeting" last week.

HOLD BOY SAILOR FOR SLAYING

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—The tanker Chuky arrived here yesterday with Joseph Roberts, 18-year-old Youngstown, O., seaman, in chains for killing James Bernico, an oiler, in a fist fight.

Authorities said Bernico attacked Roberts for throwing refuse from the windward side of the ship and gave him a black eye. The next day Roberts renewed the battle and knocked Bernico down. The latter's head was fractured by his fall to the deck. He died and was buried at sea.

PAUL WHITEMAN AVERTS PANIC AT CONCERT

ROCHESTER, N. Y., August 2.—(A. P.—Rochester and scores of Western New York communities were in darkness nearly an hour last night when electrical power was cut off through some undetermined cause. In the darkened Eastman Theater a near-panic among the audience of 3,000 was quelled by Paul Whiteman, famous orchestra leader, who, when nearly two score frightened men and women made a rush for the exits, seized two flashlights used in a feature number and turning them on his face, shouted: "I'm still here."

Passing from one side of the stage to the other he flashed the lights on the faces of the players. "We're all here," he called. "We'll stick if you will."

The frightened patrons sat down.

Retired Marine Officer Faces Court; He Didn't Write

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(A. P.)—Failure to answer a letter may be a trivial matter in civil life, but not so in the Marine corps.

Lieut. Col. H. A. Kipp of New York, although retired, faces court-martial because he failed to answer official correspondence from Marine corps headquarters in Washington. The maximum penalty that can be imposed is dismissal from the service and 15 years' imprisonment.

Brig. Gen. Rufus L. Lane, who cited Kipp for trial, said the question Kipp failed to answer "was something the Marine corps had to know."

LINDY WON'T CIRCLE OVER TOWNS NOT ON SCHEDULE

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 2.—(A. P.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh announced yesterday that he would not circle over cities hereafter on his three months' tour, unless they are marked so as to be distinguishable from the air. The decision was reached because of numerous requests that Lindbergh circle over small and large cities en route between regularly scheduled stopping places.

GIRL AND YOUTH, PARKING, SHOT WITH SINGLE BULLET

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Aug. 2.—(A. P.)—Brady Honaker is dying and Miss Blanche Wills of Arnette, Raleigh county, is in a serious condition, both victims of a single shot fired by an unidentified assailant. Honaker and Miss Wills were parked near Glen Daniel Sunday afternoon when the shot was fired.

FROST IN NORTH DAKOTA BREAKS 36-YEAR RECORD

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Aug. 2.—(A. P.)—A light frost ushered in the first day of August here, the Federal Weather Bureau reported. This is the earliest summer frost reported here in thirty-six years.

SCREEN ❧ NEWS and REVIEWS ❧ STAGE

"Beau Geste," With Notable Cast; John Gilbert Starring Film, and Civil War Picture Here This Week

BEAU GESTE," the screen version of Percival C. Wren's mystery story of the French Foreign Legion, is the current screen feature in the Grand and Liberty. The picture, the plot of which revolves around the love of three brothers for each other, boasts of a notable cast, including Ronald Colman, Noah Beery, Neil Hamilton, Alice Joyce, William Powell, Mary Brian and Norman Trevor.

The war between the rum-runners and the United States Revenue Service is depicted in John Gilbert's new starring production, "Twelve Miles Out," which is being shown in Loew's Aldine and the Cameraphone. The stage version of "Twelve Miles Out" was seen on the spoken stage in Pittsburgh several seasons ago.

"The Heart of Maryland," the screen version of that popular stage success, which has been revived from time to time within the last quarter of a century, is being presented in the Olympic and Sheridan Square. Dolores Costello has the leading role—that of a girl who, while passionately loving the South, finds her heart divided against itself in her love for a soldier of the North. Jason Robards has the leading male role.

Raymond Griffith's new vehicle, "Time to Love," is the screen feature in the Davis and Regent. It is heralded as a satirical comedy and is based on a story by Alfred Savoir, French playwright.

Gary Cooper's second starring western photoplay, "The Last Outlaw," is being shown in the State. The actor is cast as a young adventurer who accepts a job as deputy sheriff and at once gets himself mixed up in a cattle war. Betty Jewel is leading woman.

The Cameo feature is "Painting the Town," with Patsy Ruth Miller and Glenn Tryon. "Tillie the Toiler," starring Marion Davies, is one of the week's features in the Kenyon. The screen attraction in the Harris is "The Broncho Twister," starring Tom Mix.

Special stage features are being presented in a number of theaters. Vitaphone programs are added entertainment in the Olympic and Regent. Brief comedies, news pictures and novelty reels complete the various programs.

Grand—"Beau Geste."

THE CAST

Ronald Colman
Alice Joyce
Noah Beery
Ralph Forbes
And others

"Beau Geste," which is seen this week in the Grand for the first time at popular prices, is a drama of the French Foreign Legion, centering around the devotion of three young brothers, and their unflinching sacrifice for each other. The three brothers are portrayed by Ronald Colman, Neil Hamilton and Ralph Forbes. An outstanding character is brought to life by Noah Beery as "the cruelest man and bravest soldier" in the legion. There are thrills in "Beau Geste"—the sight of hundreds of colorful Touaregs sweeping across the sand plains, the revolt among the 40 legionnaires and their dauntless defense against the desert hordes. The DeMarcos, musicians and dancers, entertain on the stage. They are remembered as having appeared in "Cocoanuts," starring the Marx brothers. A Krazy Kat comedy, news pictures, "Topics of the Day" and music by the Grand concert orchestra complete the bill.

RONALD COLMAN

Regent—"Time to Love."

THE CAST

Raymond Griffith
William Powell
Vera Veronia
And others

The photoplay in the Regent this week is Raymond Griffith's comedy, "Time to Love." Griffith, as the hero, runs away with the young countess, played by Vera Veronia, Russian actress, and to escape from his pursuers, led by her unwelcome suitor, William Powell, he and the girl get into a laundry hamper. The hamper turns out to be the basket of a captive balloon. Before they realize their danger, they are high in the air, and soldiers on the ground are firing at them. Their attempts to escape and their final descent in a parachute bring the story to its merry close, it is stated. The Vitaphone presentation includes the Admirals, a naval quartet; Mischa Elman, concert violinist, and Will Morrissey and Midgie Miller, heading the act, "The Morrissey and Miller Vitaphone Revue." Educational news completes the bill.

RAYMOND GRIFFITH

More "Boy and Girl" Stories Needed, Film Comedian Contends

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 2.—Douglas MacLean, the comedian, thinks the screen needs more "boy and girl" stories.

He means the type of story descended from the fairy tales of 1,000 years ago, the kind in which the principal characters were the Prince, the Girl and the Dragon, or the Boy, the Dragon and the Princess.

"The Dragon in modern film version," says MacLean, "may be the familiar screen villain, or something impersonal, such as a war or catastrophe. But if it is a very popular film the old characters will be there in some guise or other. It is the kind of story people always have liked."

Davis—"Time to Love."

THE CAST

Raymond Griffith
William Powell
Vera Veronia
And others

"Time to Love," Raymond Griffith's new comedy, is the photoplay this week in the Davis. Griffith is seen as a young Frenchman who falls in love with Countess Elvire. He finds that his best friend also loves the countess and he thinks that she loves the latter. Broken-hearted, he agrees to be "killed" in a fake duel, but when "dying" he discovers that she really loves him. Knowing Elvire and her father believe in spiritualism he comes back as a spirit. When this deception is exposed and the girl is about to marry the Marquis, Griffith steals her away from the altar. How they escape from their predicament provides an hilarious peak of laughter and thrills, it is said. A program of Keith-Albee vaudeville and short film features complete the program.

RAYMOND GRIFFITH

Loew's Aldine—"Twelve Miles Out"

THE CAST

John Gilbert
Ernest Torrence
Joan Crawford
Bert Roach
And others

Thrills, romance and John Gilbert—this is the combination that is said to make "Twelve Miles Out" one of the most sensational pictures on the screen today. The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture is being shown in Loew's Aldine this week. It is a tale of adventure on the high seas, based on the latest factor in American life, the war between the rum-runner and the revenue service. The race at sea, when the revenue men pursue a rum-runner's sloop, and the vicious battle staged by John Gilbert and Ernest Torrence on the smuggling boat are reported as the high lights on the excitement side of the ledger. Tommy Christian and his Royal Syncopators appear on the stage. Benny and Western, comedians, and Laura Hoffman will also be offered as an added stage attraction. A film comedy, music by Loew's Concert Orchestra, "Topics of the Day" and the news films complete the program.

JOHN GILBERT

Harris—"The Broncho Twister."

THE CAST

Tom Mix
Helene Costello
And others

Tom Mix is seen on the Harris screen this week in "The Broncho Twister," a Fox production. Of course, Tony, "the wonder horse," owned by Mix, has an important part in this Western romance. The Pittsburgh girl, Helene Costello, is the feminine star. There is a climax in this picture that for sheer daring has never been equaled, it is said. Mix rolls off a 50-foot tower in a powder barrel, eluding desperadoes and returning to rescue the heroine just as a terrible powder blast demolishes the tower. Vaudeville also is on the program.

TOM MIX

Jason Robards
And others

Dolores Costello, star of "The Heart of Maryland," which is being shown this week in the Olympic, has the role of Maryland Calvert, the girl who, while passionately loving the South, found her heart divided against itself in love for a soldier of the North. This story of Civil War days has had numerous revivals since it won fame for Mrs. Leslie Carter 30 years ago. It is suffused with a passionate intensity which makes it perennially interesting. Among the characterizations are Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln, Jefferson Davis, Gen. Robert E. Lee and Gen. Grant. The Vitaphone presentation includes Will Morissey and Midgie Miller, with a company of performers and the Vitaphone Chorus and Gene Salzer's Orchestra, in "The Morrissey and Miller Vitaphone Revue." The Admirals, four boys and a ukelele, and Mischa Elman, concert violinist. News pictures conclude the program.

Up in the Air — "Helen of Troy". — Pie-Throwing Veterans

DOROTHY PHILLIPS, screen actress, has purchased and drives her own airplane. When Reginald Denny bought a plane about a year ago Hollywood gasped. Now a number of motion picture players own and operate their own "autos of the air."

HERE'S INTRODUCING Marie Corda, Russian screen beauty, who has been selected to portray the fair but fickle Helen in the film version of John Erskine's "The Private Life of Helen of Troy." Lewis Stone will portray Menelaus.

DID YOU KNOW that Lon Chaney, he of the thousand and one faces, was once a hurler of custard pies and often got hit with them too? Chaney and Mack Swain recently talked over the old days when they were both slapstick comedians on the Mack Sennett lot.

State—"The Last Outlaw."

THE CAST

Gary Cooper
Jack Luden
Betty Jewel
Herbert Prior
And others

Gary Cooper's latest vehicle, "The Last Outlaw," heralded as a fine example of virile, he-man drama, is seen in the State this week. Cooper is cast as a young adventurer who accepts a job as deputy sheriff and at once gets himself mixed up in a cattle war. The role gives him ample opportunity for his talents for his quick, contagious smile and for the spectacular riding in which he is unusually skilled, it is pointed out. The story is said to be a thrilling tale of dishonest politicians, cattle thieves and galloping cowpunchers. A Ben Turpin comedy.

For the last half of the week the screen feature is "The Heart of Maryland," featuring Dolores Costello. This screen drama is based on the stage play of the same name that has attracted theatergoers for more than a quarter of a century. Jason Robards is the leading man. Short film features complete the various programs.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

If one is planning to attend the Thursday matinee of "Applesauce" at the Pitt Theater, it would be well to make reservations early. The "Standing Room Only" sign has been displayed at this performance for the past three weeks.

Lars Hanson plays the leading role in "Captain Salvation," the feature screen attraction to be presented in Loew's Aldine next week. Rome and Dunn and Al Lentz and his Columbia Recording Orchestra will be the principal stage attractions.

TROLLEY HITS CAR, 3 HURT

Three persons were injured when an eastbound street car struck an automobile driven by Harry Fisher, of 218 Dinwiddie street, in Forbes street, near the United States Bureau of Mines buildings, early today. Fisher, his wife and an infant suffered lacerations.

Liberty—"Beau Geste."

THE CAST

Ronald Colman
Alice Joyce
Noah Beery
Ralph Forbes
And others

"Beau Geste," a thrilling mystery story of love, courage, self-sacrifice and adventure in the French Foreign Legion, is being presented in the Liberty this week. Ronald Colman plays the title part, that of the eldest of three brothers who each leave home without telling the others, to enlist in the French Legion under assumed names in order to shield each other from the blame for the theft of a famous sapphire. Neil Hamilton and Ralph Forbes enact the other brothers. One episode graphically shows the fearless defense by 40 Legionnaires of a fort in the Sahara, a desert outpost, against hundreds of Touaregs, nomadic desert bandits. It shows the sergeant, enacted by Noah Beery, "the cruelest beast and bravest soldier" in the Legion, dominating the battle. A comedy, Aesop Fables and Pathe News complete the program.

Cameo—"Painting the Town."

THE CAST

Patsy Ruth Miller
Glenn Tryon
And others

Comedy reigns in the Cameo this week, where "Painting the Town," a Universal-Jewel production starring Patsy Ruth Miller and Glenn Tryon, is being presented. The picture is heralded as a rollicking farce-comedy of a small-town hick who crashes Broadway with a score of trick inventions. In the role of the bucolic wise-cracker, Glenn Tryon is said to prove himself one of the most promising comedians in the business. Miss Miller in her actress role displays many bizarre and brilliant fashion creations in addition to turning in a performance fully up to her standard. A short comedy, International News and special music complete the program.

Pitt—"Applesauce"

"Applesauce," the Barry Conners concoction of comedy, domestic life, some homely but not bad-fitting philosophy and, of course, "Applesauce" served to bring the George Sharp players of the Pitt into even more favorable notice at the opening performance of this production last night. A gala audience of Eastern Star members enjoyed the fun of the play as much as those who witnessed the original presentation of it here a season or two ago. "Applesauce" deals with the love affairs of a young man whose chief asset and liability is that form of flattery which bears the fruity slang title given to the comedy. He is sure his soft words and spreading of good cheer and happiness is an asset and his friends are just as certain that his light view of life is a liability. Such it proves to be, but in working out the anwyer there is plenty of comedy of the kind that brings no blushes and more laughs than the plays that have their wit hidden in something dubious in the way of dialogue. Of course, there is a love interest and it nearly goes on the rocks through the inability of the "Applesauce" spreader to make both ends meet after he has acquired the girl of his choice against the wishes of both her friends and his own. Herbert Clark, a Pittsburgh boy, received something of an ovation when he appeared in the leading male role of Bill McAllister. He showed the home folks that he is quite some actor—one they need not be ashamed to brag about. Anne Forrest, as the girl, added new laurels to her crown. Other members of the company who showed strongly in their various parts were Leah Winslow, Fred Sullivan, Mabel Kroman, John Thorne and Reed Hamilton.

Davis--Vaudeville and Film

The combination bill of Keith vaudeville and the photoplay feature, Raymond Griffith, in "Time To Love," proved popular with the audiences attending the presentation of the opening program yesterday. The variety portion of the offerings was headed by Marrone and L'Acosta, in "A Dance Sensation." Included in the group presenting this terpsichorean novelty were Senorita Carlita and Mlle. Galla. The work of the performers was well liked. A musical skit, "Touring," presented by Danny Murphy and his assistants, embraced a trip from Broadway to Hawaii, China and Alaska, the whole flavored with spice and newness. George and Lily Garden, xylophonists, did things on their instruments that stirred the audience. Phil Bennet was pleasing as a street singer, yodling being included in his offering. Ed Lord and Si Willis, in comedy, songs and patter, Land and Harper in "Bits of Wit," and other screen attractions completed the bill. The principal film is a comedy with plenty of laughs.

Grand--"Beau Geste," Film

"Beau Geste," a film drama of the French Foreign Legion with Noah Beery in the principal role, occupied the featured place on the Grand's bill yesterday, with the DeMarcos, their orchestra and the minor attractions of films and cartoon completing the program. Besides Noah Beery this thriller of the war presented Ronald Colman in a title role. Beery, playing "Sergeant Lejaune, "the cruelest beast and bravest solder" in the Legion, rises to dramatic heights in the scenes where 40 soldiers for France defend a fort in the Sahara desert against the onslaught of desert bandits. The comic film, news reel and Aesop Fable are supplemented by the Grand Orchestra, under the direction of David Broudy.

Harris—Vaudeville and Films

Popular-priced vaudeville and feature photoplays at the Harris yesterday was of the sort that appeared to please. Jack Fairbanks with Iris Green, Jerry Norton, Florence Major and others offered a comedy skit embellished with music and dancing that was both seasonable and interesting. Fairbanks, as a light comedian, attracted more than passing attention, and some of his comedy antics were decidedly original. The screen feature was Tom Mix in "The Broncho Twister," a fast-moving Western screening with Tom and Tony, his famous horse, performing stunts that were rather sensational. Helene Costello, Pittsburgh girl, was the feminine lead and helped Tom beat the villains. O'Connor and Wilson, "Apostles of Mirth," were a comedy scream in original chatter and song. Irving Jones, one of the few remaining of the old school vaudeville performers, was the usual hit with songs and stories told at the expense of his race but in thoroughly legitimate manner. Screen fun, organlogues and other attractions completed the bill.

Aldine—"Twelve Miles Out"

Tommy Christian and his Royal Rythmic Romeos share the honors on the stage this week in Loew's Aldine with Benny and Western, comedy dancing team. Flora Hoffman, former musical comedy star, sings semi-classical songs. Thrills, romance and John Gilbert. This is the combination that makes "Twelve Miles Out," the screen attraction, one of the most sensational successes presented in the Aldine this year. It gives John Gilbert an ideal role, a swashbuckling hero with all the romantic appeal that marked his work in "The Merry Widow." It has all the whimsical bravery of "Bardelys the Magnificent" in ultra modern garb, for it is essentially a story of today, based on the very latest problem the nation faces. The cast is as notable as the story, adapted from William Anthony McGuire's great stage success. Joan Crawford gives a remarkable performance as heroine. Ernest Torrence is inimitable as McCue, the rum-runner, a strange mixture of the sinister desperado and whimsical humorist. Bert Roach as his comical satellite and Tom O'Brien as his burly bodyguard are two other outstanding figures. The Felix comedy, Topics of the Day and the news films complete the program.

Sheridan Square—Vaudeville

Good vaudeville and first run photo plays were presented at the Sheridan Square Theater last night with Dorothy Byton and Girl Friends topping the bill. Miss Byton as an exponent of terpischore was a seasonable treat of her supporting company bounded and glided in a manner that bespoke careful training in the rather difficult art of new school dancing. The screen presentation was "Painting the Town," with Patsy Ruth Miller and Glenn Tyron in the roles of the Follies Girl and the wise-cracking small towner, who was just as wise as he appeared to be. Bobby Van Horn, L. L. L., billed as the professor of laughosophy, was the comedy hit of the excellent bill and his titling "Live Love Laugh" was a prescription that he filled nicely. Bobbie Johnstone, a sprightly miss in a series of good songs and some timely chatter; Grindell and Ester in a comedy and dancing act; Marco and Jerome, "The Gay Deceivers;" John Edward Mitchell in a new organlogue, screen comedies and other attractions also were shown.

Olympic—Films, Vitaphone

One of the leaders of that small clique of violinists that hold in their bows the finest charms of the instrument, Micha Elman, was heard in the Olympic yesterday when he appeared on the Vitaphone. Dolores Costello in "The Heart of Maryland" was the feature picture on the screen. The Vitaphone, besides presenting Elman and his violin, gave Will Morrisey and Midgie Miller and a chorus of girls a chance to do a bit, while a skit on John Barrymore, by Dave Ferguson, completed the list. In addition, there was the comedy film and a news reel.

Fitzgerald's wife is in a critical condition at a hospital. Her husband is in jail. The woman was hurt in a fall and her husband refused to call a physician or allow anyone to enter the house.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Nothing surprises the Congo native since he saw his first match stuck, Dr. Emory Ross, missionary, said upon his arrival from Bolenge, Belgian Congo.

DAMON RUNYON SAYS

'TWAS some struggle. My famous west coast operative, T-69, otherwise Mr. Hap O'Connor, reports to me on the fight in Los Angeles between Ace Hudkins and Sergeant Sammy Baker, announcing dryly about the same general conclusion that was arrived at by our local ringworms who saw these boys in their first battle at the Polo Grounds.

"Another fight like this," remarks T-69, "and both will be reading the newspapers upside down. Sammy Baker and Manager Steve Weber gave a supper after the fight for the mob out here, and poor Sammy just sat there staring out into the wide open spaces.

"BOTH eyes were nearly closed, and his lips were swollen. He stuck around until nearly daybreak just the same, talking about how he is going to tame the Wild Cat if he gets another shot. The Ace's manager ought to be put away for life if he lets Hudkins fight Sergt. Sammy again. Hudkins had seven stitches taken in his lower lip, and with both eyes cut 'way down deep above and below the lids, the Ace was quite a sight."

As you can see, it must have been something of a struggle. Hudkins got the decision in Los Angeles. Baker got the decision in New York when a merciful referee stopped the battle when Hudkins' eye was badly cut.

IT'S the same old story.

The Los Angeles ringworms were familiar with the spectacle of Hudkins clouting an opponent all over the ring, and while this spectacle was pleasing enough at first, it finally palled. They decided that it would be more of a novelty to see Hudkins clouted, a mood that eventually comes to the clients of every pugilistic community where a fighter is uniformly successful.

The prospect of seeing a local favorite clouted has ever produced fat gates. Or, perhaps, I shouldn't say favorite, for after a fighter has a long period of success in one locality, he is no longer a general favorite. Half the crowd may still be pulling for him, but the other half goes hoping to see him licked. It has been the secret of great prosperity with many a fighter.

FOR instance, if some heavyweight that the Los Angeles ringworms think has a chance to beat George Godfrey, "the Black Shadow of Leiperville," should go to the coast, he would draw a gate rivaling that of Hudkins and Baker. Godfrey has whipped every man he has met out there for the past couple of years, and while he is not highly regarded in the East, he would draw a huge gate with some fellow like Paolino, or Tom Heeney, or the Terrible Sharkey man.

That is because the Los Angeles ringworms would be hoping to see him licked. They are tired of seeing him win. It is the same old story all over the pugilistic land.

THE promoter of the Hudkins-Baker match was Dick Donald, who is said to have cleared around $30,000 for himself. Donald has been struggling along with indifferent success as a promoter since boxing was legalized in California, and it was his first real break.

Mr. O'Connor argues—quite correctly, I think—that this scrap with its attendant gate receipts puts Los Angeles in the pugilistic big league. It drew $93,603.50, and with the Federal taxes out, $81,602 was left. Of this sum, Hudkins got 27½ per cent, or $22,096.05. Baker got $20,673.26, the largest purse that either fighter ever collected. The world's championship Dundee-Latzo fight in New York drew only about $81,000.

IT was their fight in New York and Baker's victory by the technical knockout that helped make the Los Angeles match, of course. Hudkins built up his reputation in Los Angeles long before he came East, and is a much bigger drawing card there than he is anywhere else.

The Los Angeles ring-worms have

WALTER JOHNSON.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—Walter Johnson, famous pitcher of the Washington Senators, and an idol of America's national sport, today completes his twentieth year of major league baseball.

Before a host of the national capital's fans who were expected at the Griffith Stadium to full capacity, the old master, as Johnson is known among major league players, prepared to celebrate the anniversary by pitching against the Detroit Tigers, the first opponents of his career.

Washington's baseball fandom and the leading officials of the American League too planned to mark Johnson's record with a celebration and tribute such as has been rarely accorded a player. Today was "Johnson Day" at the Griffith Stadium and the tall veteran moundsman alone was to be the recipient of the fans' plaudits.

BIG PROGRAM ARRANGED.

Before the game started a lengthy program of honors for Johnson was arranged. The ranking member of the cabinet, Secretary of State Kellogg, in the absence of President Coolidge, was designated to present Johnson two gifts from Washington's fandom—a silver service and a check. As the tribute of the American League president, B. B. Johnson, of the circuit, then was assigned to award the veteran hurler the first distinguished service medal of major league baseball, a decoration created for the occasion. The medal is in the shape of a maltese cross, studded with 20 diamonds, one for each year of Johnson's service. Later a shaft of bronze and marble in the shape of a sun dial, it is planned, will be erected and inscribed with Johnson's

SEPTEMBER 22 NAMED BY TEX

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—(I.N.S)—The Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight title fight has been tentatively postponed from September 15 to September 22, Promoter Tex Rickard announced today. He said Tunney already had agreed to the new date and that he would officially announce the change in dates later today after hearing from Dempsey.

"Dempsey asked the date changed from September 15 to September 22 or 26," Rickard said. "His wife is ill and he does not want to leave Los Angeles to start training near Chicago until she is improved. I think Dempsey will be satisfied with the September 22 date and when he informs me to that effect, probably late this afternoon, I will announce the new date officially."

Rickard said he was anxious to hold the battle as first planned, on September 15, but that Dempsey had insisted on the September 26 date.

"The September 22 date is a compromise with Dempsey and I think he will agree to it," Rickard declared.

DATE TOO EARLY—JACK

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Jack Dempsey will not be ready to meet Gene Tunney in a return heavyweight championship match on September 22, but will request that the fight be staged any day after September 26. The former champion said today he would insist upon this delay in deference to conditions which he could not foresee when he was in the East recently.

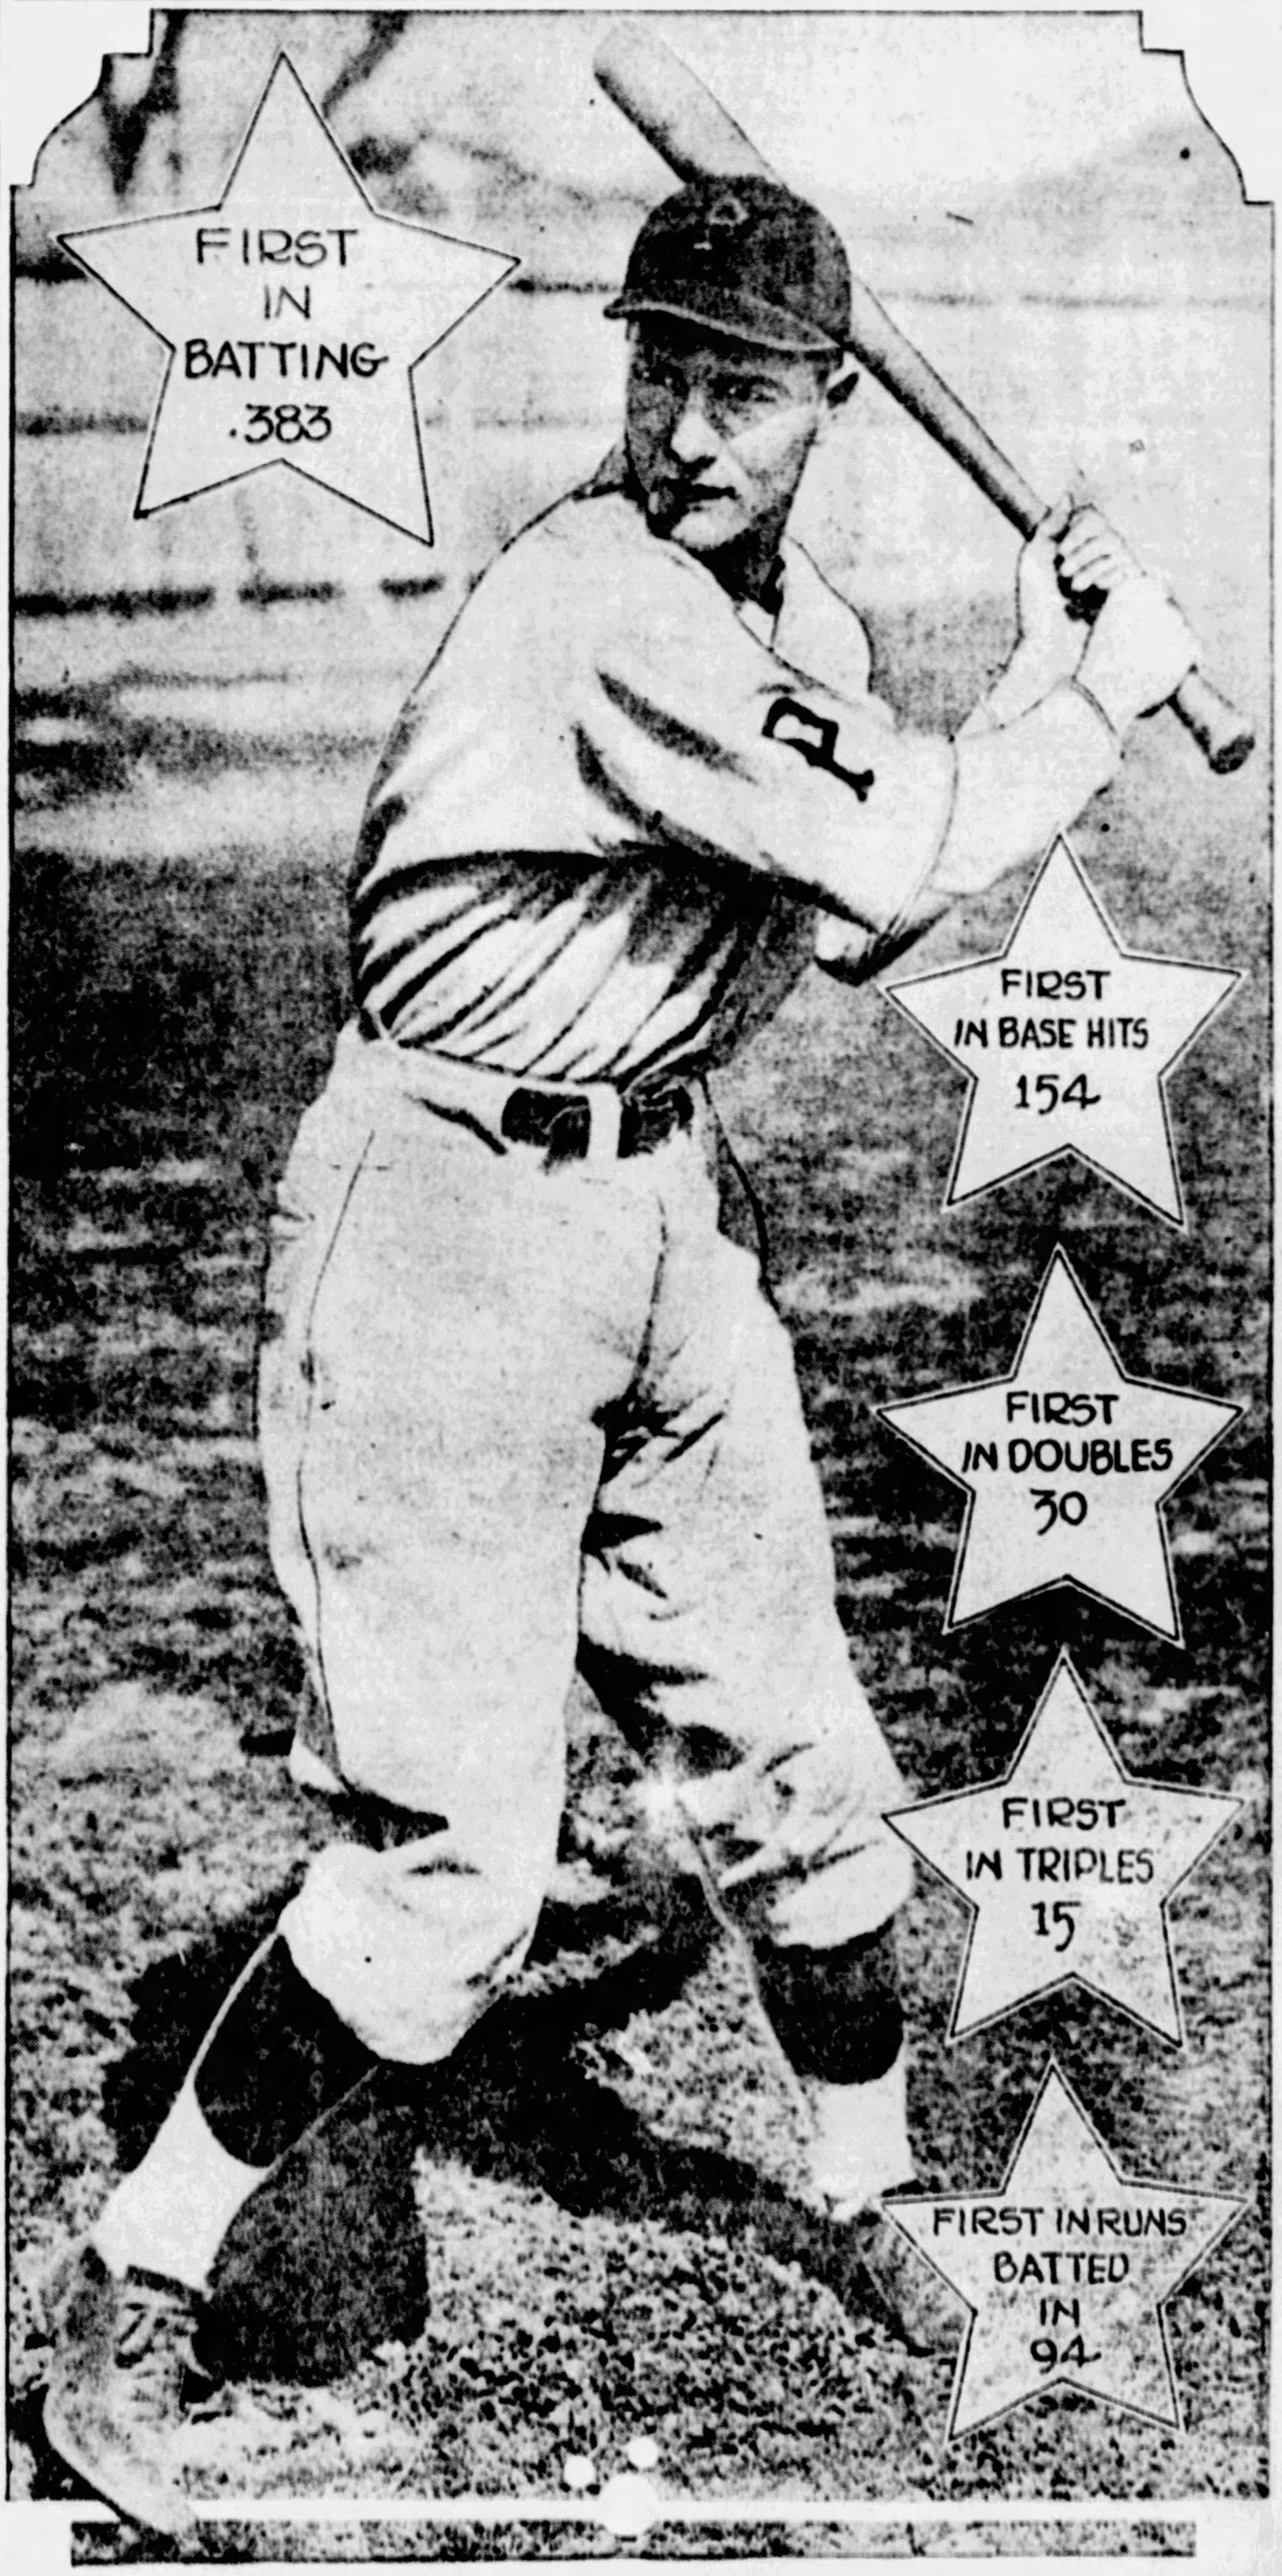
Paul Waner, Bucs' Big First Man



Above is Paul Waner of the Pirates, who is first in just about everything worth while as an aggressive baseball player. The figures eloquently tell the story of the young star's achievement in setting the pace for the National League parade. He is regarded as the best youngster to come up in years.

WANER IS FACTOR IN BUC SUCCESS

By JULIUS LEVIN

Regarded by many close followers of the game as the greatest southpaw batter to enter the major leagues in the last decade, Paul Waner, Pirate outfielder, is being boomed for the most-valuable-player prize in the National League this season.

Admitted to be one of the best patrolmen of the outfield, Punch 'Em Paul stands an excellent chance of being the first Pirate to lead the National League in batting since Hans Wagner retired from the game.

Waner, since the start of the 1927 pennant race, has contributed immensely to the Pirate cause, boasting a batting average of .383. Not only has Waner batted far above the .300 mark from the opening gong, but has hit in excess of this figure against all clubs with the exception of the Boston Braves. His average against the Braves is .288.

His batting record against all clubs follows:

IN celebrating the twentieth anniversary of Walter Johnson, distinguished pitcher, the fans of Washington have decided to help make up a purse to tender him. Giving him a purse is wise.

Complications arise sometimes when things other than money form the prize. For instance, in an inspired moment someone in New York decided to present George Herman Ruth with an actual crown, symbolic of his home run genius. The thing became a little muddled, however, when after the presentation had been made and Ruth tossed the crown in the particular cupboard he keeps such things in, a commercially minded person called on Babe to collect for the cost of the crown. A slight oversight had resulted in the donors' neglect to pay the bill.

THEN there was the statue of Ty Cobb to offer a lesson to the fans of Washington. There was almost as much trouble about the statue as there was about the crown given Ruth.

At one time Detroit fans were quite hot about Cobb, who worked with bat and blade to acquire a reputation as nothing less than a demon on the offensive. His shortcomings as an outfielder were overlooked in the brilliant glare cast by his work at bat and on the bases. Cobb's ascendancy continued until he became a manager, when the fans, once very keen about Cobb as a player, grew quite cold toward him as a manager.

As a manager he was considered anything but a success. But a strange thing happened to bring him back to popularity and to the point where the statue entered or nearly entered his life.

IT WILL be recalled Cobb had some correspondence of an intimate nature with Dutch Leonard, a pitcher. When the fans heard that Cobb was mixed up in something that smelled a little of scandal they at once forgot he was a poor manager, tearfully recalled his work as a player, and in less than no time the Chamber of Commerce, other leading men of the town and a great many fans decided to have a Cobb day. It was a great occasion. An enthusiastic fellow suggested a statue to commemorate Cobb and there was not a dissenting voice. Then nearly everyone forgot about the statue. But recently a sculptor turned up with the statue and there he was, as the boys say. They are still trying to find out who ordered the statue. Even if this mystery is solved later another problem will confront Detroit and that is where to put the statue.

SO Walter Johnson may not know how fortuate he is in getting a purse instead of a crown or instead of someone suggesting a statue for him. Statues aren't so hot, anyway. Quite often in the public square they afford only a sitting place for the loafers of the town, when they are not being overrun by the stray dogs of the neighborhood.

PITTSBURGH fans have memories of Johnson. He appeared against the Pirates of 1925 three times in the World Series. Twice he was successful. His first victory was scored with a blinding speed that made him look like anything but the old man he had been represented to be. In his second game, although lacking the stuff he had in his first appearance, he really turned in a better-pitched ball game.

But these two games are not so green in memory as his third appearance. He started to work in the third game with a four-run lead, but the Pirates, led by an inspired Carey, cut him down to their size, and in the end he was almost a tragic figure. He looked querulously and appealingly at the umpire over questionable decisions.

WHILE his complete portrait was dimmed a little in those exciting moments, as the Pirates galloped from behind, even those who had only eyes for the Pirates could not miss entirely the struggling figure of the veteran as he staggered along against heavy odds.

Throughout the country he will be remembered, of course, for his long service, for his wizardry at striking out the enemy, but in Pittsburgh, curiously, the memory of Johnson always will be associated with one of his days of failure.

But there was no one who had anything but great respect for this gentlemanly hurler. He had won two games and he had fought valiantly for the third victory and at that time he was 38 years old.

THIS new dress that my column is in today makes me just a little self-conscious. I can't get away from the idea my petticoat is hanging and that people were watching and whispering. However, after it gets a little older I may become accustomed to it, I suppose.

MR. DAVE BANCROFT, manager of the Braves, is making the Pirates sorry there ever were words between him and Earl Smith, Pirate catcher. He has played in the last two games against the Pirates as if the Braves were running neck and neck with the Pirates for first place. He is getting his satisfaction in the right way. Pittsburgh fans, naturally, are hoping Mr. Bancroft has some trouble with the Cubs a little later on. No one wants to promote a fight, but it is nothing but a fact that certain Cubs have made some uncomplimentary remarks about Mr. Bancroft. Mr. Bancroft should retaliate with displaying the same brilliance against them that he has displayed against the Pirates. By his work here he has recalled again that he is the most intelligent shortstop in a league of pretty good shortstops.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(U.P.)—Strange as it would have seemed just a few weeks ago, the New York Giants are in the running for the National League pennant.

The credit goes to Rogers Hornsby, whose stock as a "master mind" went down rapidly during the team's slump.

John McGraw, with a great ambition to celebrate his silver anniversary as manager of the Giants with another pennant, became so discouraged with the showing of his club that he left the team and went on a hunting expedition for new ivory through the bush league belt.

HORNSBY IN CHARGE

He left the team in charge of Hornsby, feeling perhaps that the boys could do no worse for the field captain than they had done for the manager.

It was not with high hopes that the Giants left on a swing through the western belt, where the Pirates, the Cubs, the Cards and the Reds were waiting for them with a wholesome appetite for soft food.

Then the Giants started winning for Hornsby, while the Cubs, the Pirates and the Cardinals were being whittled down to the Giants' size. The ball Hornsby has the Giants playing is the current sensation of the major leagues.

"They'd better tie up McGraw and let Hornsby have that ball club," they are saying in New York.

Hornsby isn't an accident as a manager. And what he is doing with the Giants isn't the result of an accident or a miracle. Hornsby proved himself as a manager when he whipped the St. Louis Cardinals into a pace that won the National league championship and the world's series last fall.

BORN LEADER

He is a born leader with that faculty for handling men that can't be explained. It is not cultivated, it is born in men and Hornsby has it.

There are many stories told about the wrangles Hornsby has had on the field and in the club house with the other players. Stories of fist fights in which he lost the decision and tales of club jealousies and politics. Perhaps some of them are true.

If they are it is all the more of a tribute to Hornsby because they play ball for him on the field whether they like him or not.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(A.P.)—Walter Johnson never expects to take his regular turn in the pitcher's box again.

After 20 years of campaigning, the Big Train has decided that he no longer can be counted upon to pitch turn in and turn out, but is satisfied that he still has a number of winning games left in his right arm, which had hurled more baseballs past batters than any other the game has ever known.

"I can't go out there and throw that ball over like I used to," Johnson told an Associated Press correspondent, "but with proper care and rest I think I can go in and win a game now and then."

Leaning forward across the front rail of a deserted grandstand at Griffith Stadium, Walter fixed his gaze on the broad field where he had scored so many of his triumphs.

INJURY HANDICAP.

"You know," he said after a pause, "the injury I received this year hurt me a whole lot. It would not have made so much difference with a young fellow, but I am getting along and it took something out of me."

Walter is undecided how long he will continue in the big show, but his mind is made up definitely that he will not give up baseball any time soon.

"Are you still interested in buying into a minor league club as you were a few years ago?"

"I did want to buy a minor league club and I may when the time comes for me to retire from the American League."

Johnson labored 17 years for the Washington club before he got his big thrill. That came in the 1924 world series, when, after losing two games to the New York Giants, he was called upon in a relief role and pitched his team to a world's championship.

His greatest disappointment came a year later on a rainsoaked field in Pittsburgh when the Pirates hammered out a victory against him in the seventh game to become the baseball champions of the year.

FACED TOUGH JOB.

"Had Marberry's arm been good that final game would have been different," Walter said. "I went into the game without enough rest—in the last few years pitching takes more out of me than it did. I realize I had a tough job ahead and I wanted to make good so badly, because our pitching staff was in a bad way. Then, too, Harris placed confidence in me and naturally I wanted to come through on that account.

"I feel that I did all I could and I think Harris did all he could to win that game. I feel that he was right and I can tell you I felt pretty badly that I could not come through for him and the rest of the fellows."

"Home Run" Baker and "Shoeless Joe" Jackson were the batters who gave Johnson the greatest trouble over the first decade of his big league career.

"During my first few years," he said, "Cobb was a great hitter and ball player, but he didn't bother me as much as Baker and Jackson. Later on, after I lost a little of the hop on my fast one, Cobb started to make up lost ground. Now Ruth and fellows like him hit me hard as they are fast ball hitters. Ruth likes my style of pitching."

CHASE SMARTEST BATTER.

Walter accounts Hal Chase one of the smartest batters he ever faced, although he never regarded Chase as a great hitter.

"You know, he was good at placing them on the hit and run," he said. "But of the smart ball players, Eddie Collins and Ty Cobb were among the best. They always were wide awake and were in there always seizing the smallest advantage. That is why they are the great ball players that they are."

New Officers To Be Chosen

By TOM BIRKS

THAT plenty of fireworks will be flashed at the annual meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Soccer Football Association, set for Thursday evening, is indicated in the manner of delegates being elected that did not carry favor with the administration last season.

Gossip at the organization meeting already held seems to indicate that balloting is going to be just as keen as last August when the officials then in power where dropped unceremoniously from the roster, and a complete new set of officials installed.

STORMY REIGN

The path of the officials elected last season was a stormy one and the delegates are already swinging into action for other changes. The balance sheet of the association showing the worst record of any year since the inception of the association despite the fact that the national amateur championship was brought to the city for the first time.

President Carson has stated that he will not run for office again, so that might be the tipoff that his associates will also drop from the legislative end.

Soccer is gaining by leaps and bounds in the Western Pennsylvania sector and harmony in the ranks of the administration must be had to foster the game. With professional leagues starting all over the country, Pittsburgh sooner or later will get into line.

The special meeting of the International Soccer League proved that another live wire organization is in the soccer field, and from the impressions gained it looks as if the new loop will be of eight clubs with a possibility of two more coming along later.

DUFFY TO BE CHOSEN

Pat Duffy, the well known official from Turtle Creek, will be the new president with Frank Mincher holding down the vice-presidency.

It seems as if Westinghouse, Braddock, Homestead, McKeesport United, National Tube, Douglas, Cameron and McPherson are going to be in the loop.

Then a well attended meeting of the District league was held by Secretary Fairfield last evening and that loop is also scheduled to get away to a good start. Most of the clubs that were in the league last season will be back. The German club, Pittsburgh Rovers, with a possibility of Kinlock being out, joining the new Sunday league.

The Miners' Keystone league will hold another organization meeting at the office of Vice-President Millen at Carnegie on Sunday at 1 p. m.

never seen him decisively beaten, and when they heard that he had been pummeled by an opponent until the fight had to be stopped, they became eager to see the pummeler. Then Sergeant Sammy bowled over Mushy Callahan, another Los Angeles favorite, and the ex-West Coasters decided that the soldier must be a veritable phenom.

Thus they began buying tickets the moment the Hudkins-Baker match was announced. New York also claimed the match, but it would not have drawn half the Los Angeles gate here. Not even championship bouts are pulling that kind of money in the East just now.

INCIDENTALLY, it was a new record for pugilistic gate receipts in California. Donald has drawn upwards of $60,000 with other shows, but he generally reported himself loser, because he gave the fighters too much money on guarantees.

He seemed a little more ambitious than his clientele warranted, but he has finally demonstrated that Los Angeles, like any other town, will pay for what it really wishes to see, and has dispelled the belief that about $50,000 represents the biggest gate the community will stand.

SERGEANT SAMMY BAKER is now matched with Mushy Callahan, of Los Angeles, and this ought to be another winner for the promoter. Sammy bowled over Mushy in Chicago not long ago, a feat that created something of a sensation throughout the pugilistic world. The soldier from Mitchel Field, who was regarded as little more than a hard hitter by the New York ringworms has certainly come on the past year.

Mr. O'Conner says he is the biggest hit of any fighter that ever came West, and adds the opinion that Baker would give Mickey Walker the fight of his life. In this I think Mr. O'Conner may be wrong, but then it wouldn't be the first time.

BELLEVUE AT DORMONT

LINDY'S VISIT POSTPONES SCHENLEY MATINEE RACE

Out of respect to the visit of Col. Lindbergh in this city tomorrow the officials of the Schenley Matinee Club have postponed their ninth regular matinee until Thursday afternoon, August 4, at 2 o'clock. The program arranged is one of the best of the year.

JOHNSON

record just within the gates of the ball park, the funds for the monument being raised among the city's baseball fans.

EVANS IS UMPIRE.

Concerts by the Army and Navy bands and stunts by Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, two former league pitchers, who now, as coaches for the Senators, furnish comedy performances for the fans, also were listed as features of the celebration before the game. As a final tribute, just as Johnson was to take the mound, a quartet was to lead the crowd in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Then the rest of the celebration was placed on Johnson's shoulders. The game was to mark the seven hundred ninety-fifth contest of his career, and if he wins it will be his four hundred fifteenth victory. None of the Detroit team who faced him in his league debut in 1907 remains on the club today, although Ty Cobb, one of his opposing batsmen 20 years ago, still is in baseball with the Philadelphia Athletics.

However, Johnson expected to see one familiar face of his first game on the diamond in Billy Evans, veteran umpire, who, despite a wrenched knee, planned to handle the indicator during part of today's game. A group of fans who saw Johnson's first game also were to be seated in places of honor near the diamond.

Stadia as Arenas

—By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.—

STAGING big boxing shows in stadia is becoming quite the thing. The Dempsey-Tunney fight last fall in Philadelphia's Sesqui-Centennial arena started the ball rolling and recently Sammy Mandell defended his world's lightweight championship in the stadium of the University of Detroit on the outskirts of Detroit. Now the second Dempsey-Tunney affair is to be held in the Soldiers' Memorial Stadium in Chicago.

Baseball parks, because of the necessity of placing so many "ringside" seats on the flat ground, do not make ideal outdoor boxing arenas. Bowl-shaped battlegrounds are much better.

How long will it be before Pittsburgh will sit in on big boxing festivals in the University of Pittsburgh's stadium?

Time was when it would have been very much out of order to mention profesional boxing and college sport fields in the same breath. But there is no reason, now, why colleges and universities should not derive income from the rental of their stadia in this maner on idle days or nights.

The University of Pittsburgh is especially well fixed to avoid criticism if it should rent its stadium for boxing and other big professional sports since it is controlled by a holding corporation.

Time to Spruce Up

THE bunt is often a winner in baseball, but many times it is the champion dunce-cap play. Lance Richbourg caught the Pirates off balance yesterday with a smart bunt in the eleventh inning and it wasn't long until the old ball game was "in" for the Braves.

The Pirates have an awful habit of bunting when the opposition is set for a tap. Wright's bunt attempt of yesterday, although it helped to lose the game, was good baseball on account of the wet condition of the field; any sort of an accurate tap would have advanced the runners as fast fielding was at a premium. The shortstop, however messed the play by hitting the ball within a few feet of the plate, thus allowing Catcher Hogan to make a play at third.

BUT granting that the play had merit on its face, it also is a fact that the Pirates persist in bunting when smart baseball would demand a move meant to upset a defense. Everybody in Oakland knows when the Pirates are to bunt, except when Sprout Waner takes it on himself to beat out a hit in this manner.

Get Together

Losing five out of seven games to a last-place entry may have its effect on writers as well as players so the contention of this writer that the Pirate Board of Strategy is wobbly at times, may or may not be correct. Putting Clyde Barnhart up to bat for Rhyne with a lefthanded batter on the bench does not stack up like the best kind of baseball even if Barney is among the five leading batters.

THE same Genewich who fanned Barney in a pinch Saturday was on the mound. He made the slugger look easy when Pooch topped his shot to the pitcher. And to make matters worse, Barnhart, nursing a sore leg, hobbled down to the first-base line. Barnhart does not stand out in the pinch roles. When he is playing he does his best batting.

OAKLAND CLUB DENIES LARY'S SALE TO WHITE SOX

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Although admitting that negotiations are in progress, Herbert McFarlin, secretary of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League, denied today that Lynford Lary, star shortstop, had actually been sold to the Chicago White Sox for a reported $100,000 consideration.

"I don't know anything about such a sale and I certainly would if it had been made," McFarlin told International News Service today. "There has been some dickering for Lary but he hasn't actually been sold."

Jack Tells Of Battle

By JACK DEMPSEY, Former Heavyweight Champion.

JUST about every time I've climbed out of a ring during the last eight or nine years, some sort of commotion has followed and the boys have gone right to work on their arguments as to the this and that of my fights.

It's got so that I always know there's going to be some flare-up after the show is over. So I am not surprised that there's a hullaballoo about this Sharkey fight. But it's a bit tough that the boys are trying to pin it on me that I socked Jack below the belt and thus cinched victory for myself.

Suppose I hadn't rapped Sharkey with a left hook to the chin after that right-hander to the body? Would he have gone down from the right-hand punch or not? If he had not gone down—what then?

I don't know how long a time elapsed between the moment I hit him in the body with the right hand and when I smacked his whiskers with the left. A fellow who is in there fighting doesn't have much chance to measure time. But it must have been a few seconds, anyway.

FOUL DROPS 'EM.

Now, if a fellow is hit a crippling foul blow in the ring, it almost always happens that he goes down as if he were shot. A really foul punch seems to paralyze a man; drop him into a state of complete collapse. They do do not usually stand up and make complaint to the referee when they are hit a blow that cripples them.

When I hit Sharkey that right-hander he did not drop. He stood up. He made some sort of protest to the referee. That official ignored the protest, or, rather, he ignored the justification of that protest. He indicated we should keep on fighting. And then I hit Sharkey with a left to the chin.

When that punch landed Sharkey did not stand up. He did not make any motion to the referee. He crumpled quickly—and he went down quickly. When he hit the floor he went down on his face.

Sharkey did not double up.

He lay practically flat on the floor, the way men usually do when they are hit a terrific punch on the chin.

DENIES HE HIT LOW.

Sharkey says I fouled him. I say that I do not think I did, that the punch was aimed for fair territory and that is where I am sure it landed. Newspaper opinion is about divided on the thing. Those who thought I would win are generally of the belief that the punch was fair; those who picked Sharkey say it was a foul.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt was taken in hand and rose 1¾ points to 39.

PREVIOUS HIGHS RAISED

The Touching of New High Prices by United States Steel and General Motors Regarded as Very Significant by Traders.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(Special.)—Urgent buying of the better grade of industrial and railroad stocks in the first period today resulted in a new forward swing of prices of the well-known stocks to higher price levels. The New York City Gas and Traction stocks moved up aggressively under the stimulus of the promise of higher net incomes, while the dividend rails carried their advances a point or so beyond Monday's best levels.

Stocks of the electrical manufacturing companies, a few of the rails, and the city utilities were important performers in the market today. New York Central, Union Pacific and Chicago Northwestern featured the rails, while General Electric and Brooklyn Union Gas were the leaders respectively of the manufacturing and utility stocks.

Motor stocks were in the same broad demand, Hudson being an active feature and advancing ⅞ to 91½. General Motors moved up 1½ to 229⅞, exceeding its previous record by ⅛.

Around midday deep interest attached to the renewed accumulation of United States Steel. That leader was up to 137⅞, a gain of over 2 points and a new high figure.

The action of Steel had an influence on the trading in many other stocks, and the dealings in the railroad stocks, which were on an increased scale, continued to attract special attention. Great Northern sold at par, the highest price touched since 1921.

General Railway Signal also made a new high record, up over 2 points. Timken was up 6⅝ to 131.

Columbia Gas and Electric rose 2 points, and Pittsburgh Coal rose 7¾.

RAILS SOAR ON MARKET

the decrease in Kansas City Federal Reserve rediscount rate, has aroused hopes in speculative quarters of cuts in other reserve centers, particularly those serving the agricultural regions.

Practically all of the high grade railroad and industrial stocks reached new high ground, the list including United States Steel common, General Motors, General Electric, American Tobacco, American Smelting, Baldwin Locomotive, Consolidated Gas, Chrysler Motors, Hudson Motors, Woolworth, Atchison, New York Central, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Canadian Pacific and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Chicago grain operators were reported to be heavy buyers of Timken, which sold as low as 78 earlier in the year. Both Timken and Manhattan Electrical Supply, which has more than doubled in price this year, fell back sharply on profit-taking. The rapidity of the advance in these and other issues led to cautionary advices by some of the larger commission houses, who urged profit-taking on the theory that the technical position of the market had been weakened.

McCrory Stores.

McCrory Stores Company declared regular quarterly dividends of 45 cents each on class A and B common stocks, both payable September 1 to record August 18.

PREUSSISCHE ZENTRALGENOSSENSCHAFTSKASSE, Berlin, Trustee

The following information has been summarized from a letter signed by the Board of Management and the Chairman of the Central Bank and by Landrat a. D., Rudolph von Bitter, representing the Guarantor Banks.

BUSINESS: Central Bank of German State & Provincial Banks, Inc., was organized in 1923 by various State, Provincial and other banks owned by public bodies; one of its purposes is to simplify the raising of money for its members by issuing its own bonds and loaning the proceeds to them.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds of these Bonds will be loaned to eleven of the member banks all of which are owned by State, Provincial or other public bodies and will be used by them solely to acquire first mortgages on new residential and apartment house property at not in excess of 40% of the value represented by the appraised value of the land and the cost of the building.

SECURITY: These Bonds will be the direct obligation of the Central Bank secured by a pledge with the Trustee in Germany of first mortgages described above payable in gold marks. The Indenture will provide that the amount of mortgages so pledged and cash in the hands of the Trustee, both taken at par of exchange, must never be less than the amount of Bonds outstanding.

GUARANTEES: In addition prompt payment of the Bonds in gold dollars is guaranteed by each bank receiving any of the proceeds of this loan and in the proportion in which such proceeds are received. The engagements of each of such participating banks are in turn unconditionally guaranteed by the State, Province or taxing authority by which such bank is owned.

The States, Provinces and taxing authorities guaranteeing the respective obligations of the participating banks will be: The Rhine Province and the Province of Westphalia (which together include the important Ruhr industrial territory), the State of Thuringia, the Province of Upper Silesia and 69 municipalities in Upper Silesia, the State of Hessen, the Province of Schleswig-Holstein, 500 municipalities and 28 districts in the State of Saxony, the District of Cassel, and the States of Oldenburg, Lippe-Detmold and Brunswick.

The population of the districts thus responsible for the payment of these Bonds exceeds 23,000,000 or about 37% of the population of Germany.

SINKING FUND: The Indenture will provide for an annual cumulative Sinking Fund, first payment in 1929, sufficient to retire all Series A Bonds at or before maturity.

We Recommend These Bonds for Investment

BOOK REVIEW

Being An Introduction to "Maurine," 1901.

She Had "It"

In this day of feverish fiction characters, it is refreshing to meet Helen Trever between the covers of "Maurine." The true index to her matchless soul is found on none other than page 68, where it says:

"Helen in idle hours had learned to make
A thousand pretty, feminine knick-knacks;
For brackets, ottomans and toilet stands—
Labor just suited to her dainty hands.
That morning she had been at work in wax,
Molding a wreath of flowers for my room—
Taking her patterns from the living blooms,
In all their flower beauty and sweet bloom,
Fresh from my garden, Fuchsia, tulip, rose
And trailing ivy, grew beneath her touch,
Resembling the living plant (very much)."

How much better it would be if our wives and daughters would spend their time making wax flowers instead of drinking gin, smoking cigarettes and rolling their socks and cigarettes! Be that as it may, in tomorrow's issue—

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
Center of Area Where 60,030,000 Live

THE SUN-TELEGRAPH

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

TUESDAY, AUGUST 2, 1927.

Established by the Pitt Publishing Company. President, William Randolph Hearst; Vice-President and Publisher, H. M. Bitner; Secretary and Treasurer, A. W. Clark; Managing Editor, G. W. Danziger.

"The Newest Thing In Pittsburgh!"

This Newspaper—Made for You.

Yesterday Mr. George S. Oliver and his brother, Mr. Augustus K. Oliver, announced that they had sold The Pittsburgh Gazette Times and The Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph to Mr. William Randolph Hearst.

About the same time Mr. Arthur Braun sold The Pittsburgh Post and The Pittsburgh Sun to Mr. Paul Block, of New York.

Today came the announcements that Mr. Hearst has relinquished the 6-day morning Gazette Times to Mr. Block (but retaining the Sunday Edition), and has acquired not only the Sunday Post but also the evening Sun, which is today merged with The Chronicle Telegraph, under the new name of

"THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH.

This new paper will be published each week-day evening and SUNDAY MORNING, the Sunday edition being a combination of the Sunday Post and the Sunday Gazette Times, but it will be called

"THE SUNDAY SUN-TELEGRAPH."

In the meantime, Mr. Block has merged the daily Post and the daily Gazette Times under the name of "Post-Gazette," which will appear as a six-day morning newspaper.

Yesterday Pittsburgh had three evening papers, three Sunday papers and two morning papers. Today there are but two evening papers, two Sunday papers and one morning paper.

Truly an amazing series of events in local newspaper history!

Instead of making promises, the Sun-Telegraph invites the people of Pittsburgh and vicinity to watch its performances. It expects to be judged by its deeds.

To publish a good newspaper, entertaining and clean, watchful for the protection of public interests, is its mission.

Whether it lives up to this high purpose, is for the readers to judge.

Edited by Pittsburghers, for Pittsburghers, under the supervision of Mr. Hearst, with the greatest feature storehouse in the world at its disposal and the most famous writers and most popular artists ever assembled under one banner, it has many pleasant surprises in store.

In the presentation of news, the Sun-Telegraph's policy will be fearless and aggressive.

Above all, this newspaper will try sincerely to be worthy of the earnest, energetic Pittsburgh community.

"Christianity O. K."—China

But There's a Chinese BUT.

Chinese authorities intend to keep Christianity "because, after all," they say "it is an Asiatic religion starting in Asia." But Christianity is no longer to be "driven into China by foreign money and organizations controlled by foreign personnel and backed by foreign guns." The Chinese boast that, "as a matter of fact, Christ was originally Asiatic, as were all founders of religions."

That is interesting although not strictly true. The greatest of the world's religions, Buddhism, Mohammedanism, Christianity, came from Asia. The white races have devised many variations of Christianity—Quakers, Shakers, Christian Scientists, etc., but nothing new since the Druids.

Hush, Let Them Sleep!

Somebody Might "Spill" Something.

Someone suggests the calling of a Federal Constitutional Convention to see if anything can be done to improve on the old Constitution. New York's Union League Club, where aged gentlemen sit and watch Fifth Avenue go by, is up in arms. A convention to investigate the Constitution would "encourage radicalism." Old Republican gentlemen are afraid that the "people of the United States might take it into their heads to discuss anything and everything," and that, of course, is something that the PEOPLE have no right to do.

Those old men feel about the Constitution as the Chinese used to feel about the tight shoes that they put on their little girls. No matter how big the feet might grow, the shoes must not be changed. But the PEOPLE in this country don't feel that way about it. Their notion is that whatever they can CREATE, they can ALTER—even a constitution. They believe that if a MINORITY can put prohibition into the Constitution, without letting the people vote on it, a majority ought to be able to put other things in.

Plenty of Young Fliers—

If the Government Will Give Them a Chance.

The Government wants more college men to take up aviation. In Britain young men are taught flying at universities—at Oxford, for instance, many young men combine flying with other studies.

This Government—first scrapping the deadly, out-of-date planes that have recently killed a number of Army men—should buy safe planes, send two or three with good pilot instructors to each big university and teach all students willing to learn. Thousands would fly eagerly.

The Hearst Papers Advocate:

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and to promote the peace of the world.
2. Proportional representation in the United States Senate, no state to have less than two Senators. Legislation to enforce prompt constitutional reapportionment in the House of Representatives.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal powers to abolish illiteracy in the United States under a Secretary of Education.
5. Election of Congress in November. Installation on the 1st of January following. Inauguration of the President 1st of January next after November election.

SLEEPIN' OUT!

THE finest fun beyond a doubt
To any boy is "sleepin' out"!
Outside beneath the starlit sky,
Where you have slept—and so have I!
Out where the skeeters whine and sting—
But what o' that? It's FUN, b'jing!
Or fun, at least, for healthy lads—
And used to be for all their Dads!

OUTSIDE, within a little tent,
Where happy hours we too have spent,
'Twas pretty hard the little cot—
But even so, that mattered not,
When we were kids and free from cares.
It beat the bed we had upstairs,
Where Mother used to tuck us in,
As little boys, who know no sin.

TO SLEEP alone was fun—you bet!
But oh, the fun was finer yet
When your best pal was also there—
Ah, this was fun beyond compare!
You talked and laughed and squirmed until
Sweet sleep came down—then all was still,
And there you slept the night away,
Until there dawned another day!

ANOTHER day of joyous fun,
Another day to romp and run—
A priceless day to ramble through,
In clover deep, 'neath skies of blue,
Upon a pair of barefoot feet!
Are grown-up days one half as sweet,
As those we lived with happy shout—
The days we knew when SLEEPIN' OUT?

OLD MUSICAL INSTRUMENT—

They are of no musical significance. They have a hollow, sweet sound, similar to that of a stopped organ pipe."

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, August 2.—There is little "white collar" poverty about clerks in New York's big stores or exclusive shops. They have a self-assurance and dignity more pronounced than will be found in most large centers.

Slick elbows, frayed cuffs and runover shoes are not a part of the sartorial equipment. Between 8 and 9 in the morning a group of the best dressed men in New York may be seen on their way to the establishments of Broadway, Fifth and Madison avenues and side streets. They are clerks.

There are many who sport canes, wear spats and lapel flowers. They have their suburban homes, automobiles and children at college, conservatories of music and like institutions. New York pays clerks more than the average city because the volume of business is larger.

The highly skilled salesman receives not only his salary, but a commission. A tony haberdasher has clerks he pays $50 a week and with their commissions several average $6,000 a year. In some of the larger stores are clerks making $10,000 a year.

The competent saleswoman is highly paid—some reach a scale of $20,000 a year and often are graduated into $25,000 a year buyers with several free trips to Europe a year. Even chain store clerks, while not so highly paid, have a chance at commissions and a managership.

New York's clerks are businesslike. They do not indulge the friendly gossip of the smaller city nor is their obeisance so pronounced. This enhances their dignity. They make every effort to land a sale, but rarely do their overtures annoy.

Due to the isolated manner of New York clerks are able, by being agreeable, to attract a following. Customers seek them and if they are busy, will wait. Sometimes their following is so large rival establishments make them better offers. Several such are under long term contracts.

A shrewd observer notices nearly all New York's pipe smokers are below Fourteenth street and that the biggest percentage of them are around the Battery. This is doubtless because there are so many seafaring men about who spend their leisure time puffing pipes.

It is estimated that a parade on Fifth avenue costs shopkeepers $2,000,000, which they are never able to recover. It is, of course, the most fitting street for parades, due to the majestic sweep from Washington Arch to the Plaza fountain. Yet shopkeepers feel their losses should not be borne alone. It has been suggested all parades be held in Central Park. Here thousands could be accommodated on comfortable benches instead of hanging to window sills, lamp posts and flag poles. The danger of panic would be slighter and the town would not be disrupted by traffic confusion. Despite precautions, many plate glass windows were pushed in by crowds fighting to see Lindbergh. Most parades, at best, are dull affairs, merely giving welcoming officials, city and state executives a chance to wear silk hats and be cheered.

There is an abandoned brewery district in the old Yorkville section on the upper East Side. It was once a street of rushing pitchers and many historians say it is where the term "rushing the growler" originated. At any rate a resident was asked what the prevailing drink was now. It remains a German neighborhood. He replied naively, "Beer," and pointed to five shops in a single block dealing exclusively in hops and other malt extracts. Many of the old brewery workers, it was said, had fallen on lean days and were employed as porters or odd jobs at factories in the neighborhood.

At one of those hoity-toity soda fountains on the avenue, charging 25 cents for a glass of soda, a jerker says men are the most regular of all patrons. And chocolate is their favorite flavor.

Learning Bridge

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I am an assiduous reader of the newspapers and fall for almost any kind of a feature that is popular. I am a good sample of the average man.

I work cross word puzzles until auks, enus and ras haunt me in my dreams, to say nothing of gnu and ai, the justly celebrated three-toed sloth, although I have my doubts whether any such animals ever existed outside of a whisky glass. Still, as getting drunk is not one of my indoor sports, perhaps my zoological acquaintance is limited. I have taken intelligence tests until I know where Kamptchatka is and how to bound Beluchistan, but the last thing I tackled was somebody or other's bridge lessons.

My wife is very fond of bridge and every week or so the house is infested by a number of chattering females and filled with their bridge talk. It seems I ought to know the game.

Of course with a giant brain like mine that should be easy.

Women can play even with their brains. Think of my thundering intellect going down to the grave brideless, as it were.

So, in the language of the dentist, I decided to do some bridge work, and right here I wish to state that these dentist advertisements proclaiming painless dentistry may or may not be true, but about painless bridge I have my own notions.

I got me some cards from a man in a store and bought me a newspaper out of my hard-earned salary and laid out the cards and took up Mr. Thingumbob's lessons in Whist.

I read one lesson over twice or three times, and should you inquire what it meant I could only answer in the language of the great Jewish classic, "Don't esk!"

In the first place I never saw a hand like those hands in the lessons.

They tell you when you have the ace and five others to lead out the queen, provided the queen is guarded properly. I never had six cards of one suit and I don't remember ever seeing an ace and a queen consorting together in one hand. I don't think much of the queen's guards also. They look more like pages to me on account of their size. All my cards are fives and sevens with a sprinkling here and there of twos and nines. The blamed lessons never told you what to do with four spots and of these I have a varied collection always.

I have come to the conclusion that my high-brow critics are right and if I am no other kind of a moron at least I am a bridge moron.

What I need is not somebody to tell me whether to play the ace or the king first, but to tell me what to do with a hand full of seven spots.

And then I think that to be an expert bridge player, at least to be an A-1 bridge conversationalist, one should graduate from a medical school and be thoroughly up on post mortems.

Most of the talk comes from ladies and is all about what you should have done and didn't. You should have led out trumps whether you have them or not, and a heart beat is much better than three club leads right in circumference. It makes no difference whether you are out of hearts or not. Lead a heart anyway and don't deceive your partner. Unless you lead hearts he may think you have four or five aces of diamonds.

I have handed the deck to a little child that plays about the house and from the way he handles it I think he may grow up to be a good bridge player.

My private opinion is that to grow up in bridge is about the only way to become a first-class performer.

At least I do not believe you can learn how from reading these lessons in the newspapers.
